FOREWORD

To the millions of devotees in Odisha and all around the globe, the grandest of all festivals of Mahaprabhu Shree Jagannatha (Lord of the Universe) is the unique and elaborate, Nabakalebara. It is during this months-long mega-spectacle, pilgrims and visitors throng the holy city of Puri, one of the four cardinal centres of Hindus (Chaar-Dhaams) to seek blessings of the deities, Shree Jagannatha, Lord Balabhadra, Devi Subhadra and Lord Sudarshana collectively known as Chaturddha- murtti. Ritualistic traditions of Shree Jagannatha temple are so diverse and complex; I have experienced it closely having the privilege of working in the 12th Century shrine as its Chief Administrator between 2012-14.

Nabakalebara has a long history, as revealed from the temple chronicle, Madala Panji. Few sources cite 1575 AD as the commencement of Nabakalebara rituals. However, authentic physical records are available since the early part of nineteenth century describing this mega event. The Department of Culture, Government of Odisha took the lead in putting all such credible documents, available in bits and pieces as well as in documentary forms. Odisha State Archives that houses hundreds of thousands of precious records became the pivotal point to bring all such relevant papers relating to the Nabakalebara festival in the last two centuries and this has culminated in this Collector's item.

I'm indeed privileged to lead a very erudite team of experts in the field to edit this document. I can but inadequately express my grateful thanks to Dr. Mahesh Prasad Dash, Prof. Raj Kishore Mishra, Prof. Atul Chandra Pradhan, Dr. Kailash Chandra Dash, Dr. Bibekananda Das and Dr. Bhagyalipi Malla for their very skilful compilation of this volume. Support extended by the Superintendent, Odisha State Archives and her team, namely, Dr. Sk. Soleman Ali and Sri Prasanta Kumar Mohakud are sincerely acknowledged. The ex-Director, Sri Sushil Kumar Das deserves a special mention in preparation of this document, who co-ordinated activities during the start of the project.

Sri Ranjit Kumar Mohanty, present Director also helped at each stage, especially in getting the document printed on time. Sri Ashok Chandra Panda, Hon'ble Minister, Tourism & Culture; Sri Gokul Chandra Pati, Chief Secretary; Sri R. Balakrishnan, Additional Chief Secretary, Finance Department gave guidance at each stage and encouraged the team with their moral support. Special thanks are due to Sri Asit Tripathy, Principal Secretary, Home Department for making available the Inquiry Commission report relating to 1977 Nabakalebara festival.

The Director, Printing, Stationary and Publication, Madhupatana, Cuttack readily agreed to print the document within the shortest possible time and our sincere thanks are due to him. We also place on record our gratitude to the individuals and institutions, namely, Shree Jagannatha Temple Administration, Puri, Odisha State Museum, Bhubaneswar and I & P.R Department, Government of Odisha who provided valuable records and photographs for compilation of this edition.

The editorial team earnestly hopes that 'Nabakalebara: An Archival Document' will be a very good source of authentic materials relating to the mega ritualistic event and prove useful to students, researchers and enthusiasts on Jagannatha Culture.

INTRODUCTION

Puranic myth, living legends, temple tradition and brahmanic ritualization have transformed the presiding Deities at Pursottama-Jagannatha-Shrikshetra-Nilachala-Puri in Odisha into a mysterious Brahman (the primordial unmanifest cosmic consciousness to an embodied and perceivable and qualified Brahman in the sanctum sanctorum or Shrimandira in Puri Dhama). In the temple terminology Lord Jagannatha, Balabhdra and Subhadra are known as the Holy Trinity and with the divine disc, Sudarshana along side Lord Jagannatha constitute the Chaturddhamurtti. The quadruple divine idols are but One in devotees' psyche as Lord Jagannatha. Besides the idols of Balabhadra, Subhadra, Jagannatha and Sudarshana on the Ratnasimhasana (the bejewelled throne) the three other icons, eg. Shridevi (Spouse of Lord Vishnu-Jagannatha), Bhudevi (Earth-goddess or Saraswati) and Madhava (the miniature form of lord Jagannatha-Dhadhivamana) are placed there and as such, the seven divinities are known as Saptabaranamurtti or Saptadha Murtti or the Holy Septarian One.

The Jagannatha temple is situated in the littoral town of Puri (Latitude 19^0 18'17 and Longitude 85^0 51'39), near the Bay of Bengal (earlier known as Purba Sagara or Kalinga Sagara) upon a huge sand dune or a hillock with verdant plantations which from a distance looked like a Nilashaila or Blue Mountain in the past. Recently Puri dhama has been declared as one of the heritage cities for HRIDAY under Heritage City Development and Augmentation Yojana by Govt. of India.

There are multiple inter-woven legends regarding the evolution of Lord Jagannatha. Sarala Dasa's Mahabharata which is still considered a magnum opus of India's vernacular literature in the 15th century, gives an account of Nilamadhava alias Lord Jagannatha and his emergence in Odisha in his Vana and Musali parvas or cantos. Jagannatha in days of yore was first secretly worshipped as Indranilamani Vigraha who used to receive adoration from the celestial bodies in the night in a sequestered wooded niche or a cave in the Blue Hill.The tribal chief, Biswabasu happened to be present there each night. The king of Malaba (Malwa) being informed by Narada about the presence of Lord Vishnu in Utkala Desha craved for an early darshana of the same. He sent his Brahmin minister's younger brother Vidyapati as an emissary for first hand reporting. Deulatola Kavyas composed by Shishu Krushna Dasa and Nilambara Dasa give a vivid description as to how the emissary had had a visit to the forest arbour on Nilagiri to have a glimpse of Nilamadhava and how he contrived a marriage with Lalita, the daughter of Biswabasu Shabara. He fled to Malaba to report to the king. The king with a large retinue reached the place in the company of Narada and to his utter dismay; he found the precious idol had vanished. After a long appeal, he heard an oracle that the king could only perceive Him in the form of a floating log in the Bay of Bengal near Banki Muhana in Puri. The oracle came true. The king could retrieve the wood afloat in the sea with the help of Biswabasu in the presence of Brahma (the Creator). This floating wood, according to some scholars, is also mentioned in a Vedic hymn which is still controversial as it does not specifically refer to Purusottama of Puri. The Skanda Purana (13th /14th century) is silent about Lalita but describes how a massive Ashwamedha sacrifice was conducted by king Indradyumna and from the sacrificial fire appeared on the day of Jyestha Purnima an awe-inspiring image of fierce Narasingha or Nrusingha being flanked by Balabhadra and goddess Lakshmi and Veda patta on Narasingha's lap. The foremost image of Jagannatha is in the form of Nrusingha. The king could no more withstand it. He appealed for a peaceful form of the Divine. This sacrificial fire was said to be lit in the premises of the Gundicha

Temple, called Mahavedi. This Mahavedi or Antarvedi is mentioned in the Sanskrit Mahabharata. The momentous appearance of Nrusingha seems to be the indwelling Jagannatha- consciousness in Shrikshetra-Puri as Nrusingha is extensively invoked in Nabakalebara ritual.

By the king`s earnest appeal, God desired to be shaped in a sequestered enclosure by an adept sculptor. There are two versions regarding the time consumed for shaping the present icons. Some say the Deities were sculpted in half a day and a full night. According to the popular version, the fashioning of the images was scheduled for twenty one days. But queen Gundicha got impatient as she could not hear any sound of carpentry coming from within the enclosure.She surmised that the old carpenter (Ananta Maharana by name) would perish out of suffocation. At her command the door was forcibly made open and to her utter surprise, she found the incomplete icons which are being worshipped in the sanctum till date.

The king Indradyumna is said to have formulated multiple festivals, almost thirteen festivals in a year having twelve months. He built an exquisite temple (three kilometers south of Mahavedi), constructed chariots and brought these vigraha-s in a royal procession to the present temple. This in brief is the legendary account which has assumed a living and vibrant tradition in course of time. The children of Lalita-Vidyapati are identified as Pati Brahmins or Pati Mahapatras who enjoy the prerogative of offering puja to the Deities. The other lineage which descended from the tribal chief Biswabasu is the lineage of Daitas or Daitapatis who are proud of their kinship with Lord Jagannatha. They enjoy the prerogative of conducting the Snana Jatra (celestial bathing), the Ratha Jatra (the chariot festival) and the Nabakalebara or the renewal of body of Chaturddhamurtti including Madhava.

The Utkal Khanda of Skanda Purana endorses the tribal origin of worship (7^{th}& 8^{th} chapter). It is learnt from available records that the appellation of Jagannatha started becoming popular in place of Purusottama probably in the 13th century A.D. Copperplate grants and and Stone Inscriptions mentioned the name of the Deity as Purusottama which was in vogue till the end of the 12th centuryA.D. In the 3rd decade of the 13th century A.D., the name Jagannatha was used for Purusottama as it expressed the kingly nature of the Deity when Anangabhima III declared himself as a deputy(Rauta) of Lord Jagannatha which is stated in Kurmeshwara temple inscription of 1230 A.D. .The name Jagannatha became still more popular by the time of the Ganga king Bhanudeva II. Of course, the name of Jagannatha denoting the Divine is found in Valmiki Ramayana where Ramachandra had advised Bibhisana to propitiate ikshakukuladaivata Shri Jagannatha. Vishnupurana, Bamana Purana and Garuda Purana have also referred to Jagannatha who is none but Vishnu, and not Shri Jagannatha of Puri in particular. In the Vishnu Sahasranama (occuring in the Mahabharata) we get 'Keshava''Narasimha'and'Purusottama'. It is quite interesting to find the name of Jagannatha of Utkal (Odisha) in some Tantrik texts like Pithanirnaya, Rudrayamala and Tantrayamala. Puranas written in Sanskrit like the Brahma, Padma, Bruhannaradiya and Skanda have made extensive references to Purusottama in Nilachala-Puri. The Brahma, Naradiya and Skanda are explicit about the evolution of the sacred place, fashioning of the divine images, consecratory rites and various festivals pertaining to Purusottama in Purusottama Kshetra. Murari Mishra (in his play Anargha Raghava) and Krushna Mishra (in his allegorical play Prabodha Chandrodaya), smruti writer Satananda Acharya have also given direct reference to Purusottama.

Now mystery surrounds the four wooden images enthroned on the Ratnasimhasana besides the idol of the additional Madhava. Thus, they are: Purusottama-Jagannatha, Balabhadra, Subhadra, Sudarshana and Madhava. In none of the temples of antiquity in India we find wooden images being worshipped over ages. Though there are shastric prescriptions for different mediums, eg., gold, silver, brass, wood, iron, gemstone, rock, sandalwood, flowers and paintings etc, in which the divine images can be made.The Holy Trinity, Sudarshana and Vamana are all fashioned from the neem wood. The neem tree is said to be very pure and sacred. It smells sandalwood when the tree grows old.

Nabakalebara

Nabakalebara or the renewal of body of the Divine v*igraha*-s in Shrikshetra-Puri is known as Brahmotsava. It precedes the famous Ratha Jatra or Chariot Festival. Since the idols are made of wood, there is a need for change of the wooden frame prior to its inner decay and distortion. Usually it is done at intervals of eight or nineteen years, particularly in the intercalary month of Asadha which comprises three fortnights. Out of these three fortnights, the closing two fortnights constitute an intercalary month or mala masa (impure month) or adhimasa (leap month). All leap months have a sanctified name, Purusottama masa. In Odisha we count the lunar month from the succeeding day of Purnima (full moon) .The said lunar month terminates in amavasya (new moon*)*. A solar year comprises 365 days whereas the lunar year comprises 354 days. Hence, the solar year exceeds the lunar year by 11 days. According to astronomical calculation a leap month is imperative after thirty two months and sixteen days. The leap month without any intervention of Samkranti or Sun's transit to the succeeding zodiac sign is known as malamasa or Purusottama masa. In the twin asadha month, the bright fortnight of the first asadha and the dark fortnight of the second asadha constitute the special malamasa. Nabakalebara or fashioning of images in the Nirmana Mandapa in Koili Baikuntha takes place during the first dark fortnight which is shuddha or pure fortnight. This calculation finds a mention in an unpublished manuscript, Purusottama Mahatmya by Bipra Jagannatha Mohapatra. It is worthwhile to mention here that the legendary king Indradyumna conducted the first Nabakalebara Jatra in intercalary Asadha.

We have no clear and authentic records of celebration of Nabakalebara prior to the commencement of the British administration in Odisha in 1803. There were some occasions when Nabakalebara was held in the absence of twin asadha because of certain exigencies. One of the prime causes was the aggression of non-Hindu rulers who were covetous of the amassed wealth of the Jagannatha Temple. History records the plundering activities of some Afghan and Mughal commanders who frequently tried to loot, distort and desecrate the images in the Temple. Odisha lost its independence in 1568 AD, with the death of Mukunda Deba in a fight with Bengal's Sultan Suleiman Karrani. During the aftermath of defeat a fanatic Afghan named Kalapahada attacked the temple, took away with him the Divine idols and burnt them near the bank of the river Ganges. According to a tradition probably the invader could not escape divine wrath and succumbed thereafter. One Odia devotee, Biser Mohanty by name who followed the Afghan invader in disguise is said to have retrieved the Brhama Mani or the jewlled Brahma or life-substance from the half-burnt images, and quite surreptitiously reached Kujanga as a vagrant chanter of god's glory. Kujanga (now in Jagatsinghpur district) was not then within the domain of Afghan rule. Almost seven years after, the King of Bhoi dynasty Ramachandra Deba-I got to know about the event. He brought the Brahma or life substance from Kujanga, reconstructed the images and inserted Brahma therein and finally reinstalled them on the Ratnasimhasana in Puri. This historic event is said to have occurred in July 1575 A.D. as per the Madalapanji and Chaini Chakada. But this date does not seem to be tenable as the Jagannatha temple was under the sway of Afghan rule till 1588-89 A.D. In all probability Ramachandra Deba-I reinstalled the Deities during the Mughal rule in 1590 A.D. after conducting the Nabakalebara. He earned the epithet of Dwitiya (second) Indradyumna. According to Madalapanji (the temple chronicle) the Nabakalebara took place in 1733 A.D. during the invasion of Nayeb Nazim Taki Khan. During the Maratha Period Nabakalebara ceremony was probably held on three occasions, eg. 1752, 1771, 1790 A.D. During the British regime we have adequate documents and reportings about the Nabakalebara festival. This book attempts to bring to light some important archival documents for researchers on Nabakalebara.

The Navakalebara was held successively in 1809, 1828, 1855 and 1874 A.D. In 1893 A.D. a partial Nabakalebara was held because of paucity of resources. This partial Nabakalebara is known as Shri Angaphita when the outer wrappings are replaced by newer ones. In the twentieth century, the festival took place in 1912, 1931, 1950, 1969, 1977 and 1996. In the present millennium the first Nabakalabara is scheduled for June 2015. It is also significant to mention here that the Holy Triad went underground for almost 144 years at Sonepur in western Odisha because of prevailing unrest caused by invasion of one Raktavahu as reported in Madalapanji. During the rule of Jajati Keshari I, the idols were traced lying distorted in a pit at Kot Samalai in Sonepur. They were brought out and the King took all pains to reconstruct a new set of Idols. He brought them back to Purusottama-Puri and reinstalled them after inserting Vishnushila or Shalagrama in Deities' naval region. (from Madalapanji sources).

The text has been retrieved from the old palmleaf manuscripts written in archaic Odia character.The author has referred to Bidyakara *Bajapeyee Paddhati w*hich mentions that Jagannatha's shape should be circular like a disc, Balarama's conch shape, Subhadra's shall be that of a lotus whereas Sudarshana's that of a mace.

12. Biswakarma or carpenters fashion the idols as per the measurement provided to them by Badagrahi (care-taker of each Vigraha) or Chief Daitapati.
13. Ghata Parivarttana – Transfer of kutastha Brahma or the secret life substance from the old idols to the new ones which is known as Brahamotsava
14. Patali leela or Goloka Vishrama (burial of Chaturddhamurtti, and Madhava, respective wooden charioteers (sarathi) wooden horses (ashwa), wooden gate-keepers (Dwarapala) inverted parrots (olatashua), wooden deities around the chariots (p*arshwa devata*-s) and other used articles.
15. Obsequies or purificatory rites (Shuddhi Kriya) observed by the Daitapatis

Prelude to Banajaga Jatra

Day of commencement – Chaitra Shukla Dashami (10^{th} day of lunar fortnight of Chaitra)

. Pati Mahapatra procures four ajnamalas (garlands worn by the respective Deities symbolizing their permission) and hands over each to the Badagrahis of the Trinity and keeps one for himself as he acts as the Badagrahi of Sudarshana Chakra.

- They all assemble at the anasara pindi (the improvised place for Deities' sojourn in the sanctum) where Bhitarachha ties Khandua Sadhi (red turban of about $18^{/}$ length) on the head of four chief Badagrahi-campaigners.
  Other co-follower Daitas also receive smaller sadhis
- A Mekapa servitor puts sandal paste and vermilion marks on the forehead of Daitas.
- The Party proceeds to Jaya-Vijaya Dwara where Bhitarachha Mohapatra presents smaller sadhis to Biswabasu, Deula Karana, Tadau Karana and Behera Khuntia. He also presents *patani (*new cloth) to Padia Karana, Lenka and Biswakarmas of four respective Deities.

Acharya and other shrotriya brahmana-s (adept in Vedic rites) and some sepoys also join them. The Lenka servitor leads the procession with Chakra-Narayana Sudarshana Chakra. .

The party proceeds to the palace of the Gajapati Maharaja who greets and honours all servitors. The Rajaguru on behalf of the Raja invites Biswabasu, the chief of Daitas to undertake the arduous task of selection of Daru. Rajaguru also endorses Raja's request to act as Acharaya himself or his representative for performing necessary ritual.

Then the team of servitors moves to Jagannatha Ballabha Matha alongwith designated Brahmins and Mandira Purohita (temple priest). They take rest for a day and a half there and by midnight leave Puri and proceed towards goddess Mangala of Kakatapur by covering a distance of nearly 60 kilometers on foot with lots of excitement. Bullock-carts carrying all necessary articles follow them. While halting at two or three places midway, they finally sojourn at the Deuli Matha which is situated at a distance of three kms from the Mangala Temple at Kakatpur. The servitors of goddess Mangala greet the members of the Banajaga party and invite them to the temple for necessary ritual. There is a belief that goddess Mangala provides certain directions to Biswabasu or Badagrahi Daita or the leader of Daitas (Dalapati) in their dream about the probable location of designated Daru-s. They recite the swapnavati mantra (a specific mantrik formula) in silence and repeat the same till they receive a signal in dream.

The following signs are closely observed while selecting the Daru for each of the Deities.

For Lord Jagannatha –

i) The Neem tree should appear either black or deep red in colour.

ii) It should be straight at least for about $11^{/}$ or $18^{/}$ from the ground level.
iii) It should have minimum four branches.
iv) There should be a pond or river nearby
v) There should be a triangular road-crossing and hillock or a mound nearby.
vi) There should be a crematory ground in the vicinity.
vii) There should be a *Shivalay*a or a hermitage nearby.
viii) No carnivorous fowls would build nest on the tree.
ix) It should not have been damaged by storm.
x) There should have been an anthill nearby.
xi) A cobra would be guarding the tree.
xii) Most important is that the tree should bear signs of conch or disc.

The tree for Balabhadra:

i) Its colour should be whitish
ii) There should be seven branches in a graded manner, looking like the hood of a cobra from a distance.
iii) There should be trees like sahada or Bel nearby.
iv) The tree should bear signs of a plough and a club

The tree for Subhadra:

i) The colour of the tree should be yellowish.
ii) It should have five branches
iii) There should be a sign of lotus on the bark.

The tree for Sudarshana:

i) The colour should be either of orange or rose.
ii) It should have three branches.
iii) It should bear the sign of Chakra (disc).

The entire responsibility of selection of Daru-s rests on Daitapati Servitors. The Daru-s should have at least some major signs as described above. The selection of Daru takes place as per a fixed protocol. First for Sudarshana, then for Balabhadra, then for Subhadra and finally for Lord Jagannatha.

Important rites conducted near the Daru:

- The Lenka sevaka places Chakraraja Sudarshana after the place is cleaned and disinfected with cowdung (Bhumi Shodhana). He and the Daitas circumambulate the tree.
- The tree is bathed with 108 pitcherful water and Surya puja is performed.
- The ajnamala brought from the sanctum sanctorum is placed on the tree.
- The tree trunk is covered with new cloth.
- The Daitas take rest in the nearby Shabara Palli (Parnakutira settlement, reminiscent of early tribal habitat) .
- The brahmins perform Vedic fire sacrifice and exorcise evil spirts, besides they conduct other secret rites.
- The Yajna continues for two days. Lord Nrusingha happens to be the master of yajna. Besides, other divinities are also invoked. They are: Devi Durga, Varuna, Ten Digpala-s, Ganesha, Kali, Saraswati, Bhairava, Kshetrapala, Astabasu etc. Various water vessels (Kalasa) with consecrated water are also placed. The three axes made of gold, silver and iron, wrapped in cloth are placed on a design of eight-petalled lotus for consercration. The chief priest (acharya) worships the tree while chanting Sudarshana mantra. In the sacrificial fire he offers ghee oblations while chanting the esoteric Patala Nrusingha and mantraraja Nrusingha mantra.

When the yajna is over, Acharya, Brahmanas-s, Vidyapati (Pati Mohapatra) and Biswabasu Sevaka circumambulate the consercrated tree for seven times. The tree trunk is anointed with ghee and ashes obtained from the sacrificial fire. Then an image of an upturned man (as in somersault) is drawn on the trunk of the tree, The trunk is covered with white cloth amidst chanting of Narayana, Vishnu and Basudeva mantras. It is followed by offering of bhutabali (vegetarian offering to elemental spirits) to propitiate all impeding unseen spirits or disembodied souls. . A pumpkin is placed vertically upon four sticks and is cut asunder which symbolizes animal sacrifice. These are all secret rites.

Then the Acharya or the Chief Priest hands over the gold-axe to Bidyapati while chanting Sudarshana mantra. Bidyapati circumambulates the Daru thrice and gives three storkes to the Daru. Similarly the Acharya hands over the silver axe to Biswabasu to repeat the same act and finally the iron axe to Biswakarma carpenter. Brahmins chant V*ishnu Sukta* amidst musical sounds. The tree is made to fall in the north-east direction. Its unusable branches and leaves are buried there in a special pit and are levelled with soil. Then the procured tree-trunk is processed into a particular size (chaupata).

The sized log is covered with cloth and is carried in a specially built cart after initial consecratory rites. The log is tightly roped and pulled by devotees and Daitas and temple servitors amidst processional chant and musical sounds. On the way, the holy log is greeted and adored by thousands of people who reverentially carpet the track with new fabrics and offer various presents. In case of long distance, the Banajaga party halts at some sacred places. When this Daru shagadi (the cart carrying the holy log) crosses the Atharanala Bridge (on the outskirts of Puri), it stays near Alam Chandi Temple. Gajapati Maharaja and the sevayats of Jagannath Temple are kept informed. The king or his representative reaches there forthwith in the company of Brahmins and priests to accord a reverential welcome. If its itinerary is different, the Daru shagadi halts near the Nrusingha Temple (close to the Gundicha Temple) where it is accorded a royal welcome. Then the Daru Shagadi is pulled on the Grand Road of Shrikshetra till it reaches the Northern Gate of the Jagannatha Temple and is pulled into Koili Baikuntha premises. A strict protocol is always maintained. First to arrive is Sudarshan Daru, then Balabhada-Subhadra-Jaganantha Daru-s.Much before the arrival of Daru-s four separate Daru shelters are already constructed for storing the sacred logs separately. It is imperative that collection of Daru-s must be done before the Snana Purnima as the holy Daru-s need to have a celestial bath on the day of Snana Purnima.The Daru-s are offered puja each day by authorized servitors.

Activities in the Mandapas : [Inner Banajaga]

As said earlier seven distinct mandapa-s (thatched enclosures) are already made ready in the south-west corner (nairuta) of Koilibaikuntha. They are Nirmana Mandapa, Pratistha Mandapa, Nrusingha Mandapa, Daru Mandapa, Sambhara Madnapa, Snana Mandapa and Adhivasa Mandapa.

Nirmana Madapa is meant for fashioning the Chaturddhamurtti and Madhava Murtti by Biswakarma-s under the supervision of experienced Daita Sevakas (mostly by Badagrahis). It remains functional for eleven days.

Pratistha Mandapa, otherwise known as Yajna Mandapa is meant for all related Vedic rites including an eleven-day long fire sacrifice. Gajapati Maharaja invites learned brahmins, just a day before the fire sacrifice, for accomplishing all Vedic rites and rituals without any omission or commission. The idol of Lord Nrusingha with his consort Lakshmi is brought by Mahajana or Pati Mahapatra servitor to Nrusingha Mandapa. It is of vital importance as Nrusingha happens to be the master of ceremony. Germination of seeds requires five days. The process commences on Jyestha Purnima. Sambhara Mandapa is meant for storing all puja articles and *ankuraropan*a.

It is to be noted here that Pratistha karma and Vigraha Niramana commence on the second lunar day of the dark fortnight of shuddha asadha simultaneously and continue for eleven days. Around seventy brahmins are required to perform various rites. They have different designations-Pradhana Acharya, Upa-Acharya, Charu Hota, Samidha Hota, Nyasacharya, Brahmaa, Pustakacharya, Pracharaka, Upa-Pracharka, Rajapratinidhi, Four Veda-Hota-s, Swastivachaka, Murttidhara, Agnirakshaka, Shala rakshaka, Mandalacharya, Gita Pathaka, Vishnu sahasranama japaka etc. The pratistha karma mainly centres round the Nyasa Daru which is used as the sealing doors or Brahma Kapata of each idol during the transfer of Brahma from the old idols to the new ones. The Nyasa Daru undergoes various secret rituals. Nyasa is the process of charging a part of the body with a specific power of mantra through touch. Here the Chaturdhamurtti is invoked on the Nyasa Daru, projecting it as Adi Nrusingha (in consonance with Lord Jagannatha's first manifestation in the sacrificial fire at the Mahavedi of Gundicha Temple) and is placed on a newly built and well decorated chariot which circumambulates the main temple in the inner enclosure (Kurma bedha) two days before the transfer of life substance (Brahma Parivarttana) and the work is accomplished by Pati Mahapatra and Daitas secretly at night.

Ghata Parivarttana* or Transfer of life substance:

On asadha krushna chaturdashi, Gajapati Maharaja as the foremost servitor offers the final oblation in the sacrificial fire. The new idols are bathed in holy water and are wrapped in fine white cloth. A cloth barrier or a screen is provided and standing behind the screen, the Brahmins also consecrate the newly built idols. As per the established protocol, the idols are brought in Pahandi into the anasara pindi (Secret Altar), eg. i.e. Sudarshana-Balabhadra-Subhadra-Jagannatha by Badagrahi Daita servitors and Pati Mahapatras.The transfer of Brahma padartha is performed with utmost secrecy. All doors are closed, the temple premises are made vacant, temple-doors of all subsidiary deities both within the two concentric boundaries are closed. Other Daitas who are said to be the kinsmen of Lord Jagannatha wait outside the Southern Door (Beharana dwara) of the sanctum.

The old idols sans the indwelling Brahma are brought to Koili Baikuntha for burial by the Daitas. A huge pit is kept ready to put to rest each idol in well prepared bed alongwith the wooden charioteers, wooden horses, wooden parshwa devatas, wooden inverted parrots, wooden gate keepers, flags, Ratha Kalasas etc. Digging of the pit and levelling the same are done by designated servitors known as Kothaswasian.

Shuddhi Kriya* or Obsequies observed by the Daitas:

The entire Daita community in Puri observes post-mortuary rites with all solemnity as per the prevailing social custom. They take bath in the Markandeya pond on the first day and the tenth day, give a fresh whitewash to their houses, discard impure articles. They also appease the Brahmins, all servitors and devotees on the 13th day by serving them with Shri Mahaprasada in the temple premises as per their tradition.

The fortyfive-day-long Maha anasara (the Valedictory Ritual)

Anasara or Anabasara or sojourn in a sequestered bamboo-house in the sanctum for a period of fifteen days soon after the Jyesthi Snana or Snana Purnima (celestial bath of the Deities on an elevated platform in the open on the fullmoon day of the lunar month of Jyestha, supposed to be the birth day of Lord Jagannatha) is an important part of annual ritual. The Deities like human beings fall sick on account of excessive bath, become unable to climb the bejewelled throne and hence repair to a temporary shed (anasara gruha) where they are treated by a temple physician. They remain on prescribed diet and shun cooked food. Various sweet and flavoured pana (drinks) are offered to them. After a week they recuperate their health and get ready for a triumphant ride on their respective chariots, known as Ghosa Jatra or Ratha Jatra. The Anasara gruha is veritably a temple as well.Such is the ritual of normal anasara.

The ritual of Maha Anasara (a lengthy anasara of fortyfive days) which also lasts for a month in the intercalary month (mala masa) of asadha shows some additional rites along with the existing ones. Bamadeva Samhita (16th Century, Chapter 15) and Niladri Mahodaya (17th C. Ch.4) provide some information about anasara ritual. This ritual is highly secret. Devotees and temple servitors other than Daitapatis, Pati Mahapatra, Suda Suara and Datta Mahapatra are proscribed admittance to the sequestered bamboo-house or in temple parlance, the Tatighara. The partition wall is raised to house the Deities concealed. However, pictorial representations of the Holy Triad are exhibited near the barricade. For Balabhadra a patti chitra (canvas painting) of four-armed Ananta Basudeva, for Subhadra, Bhubaneswari and for Jagannatha four-armed Ananta Narayana paintings are exhibited. Close to these paintings, their respective metallic proxi-divinities are also placed on a decorated cushioned bed, eg.Nrusingha, Rama and Krushna (in front of Balabhadra), Shridevi and Bhudevi (in front of Subhadra) and Madanamohana and Dola Govinda (in front of Jagannatha).

The Patti paintings are venerated as Patti Brahma and behind the barricade remains the C*haturddhamurtti* or Daru Brahma with Madhava alongside. They seem to be oblivious to their enthusiastic devotees outside who remain busy in counting their days for an early darshana. The last darshana they have had on the Snana Purnima Day.

During the Maha anasara, the first month is spent in simple ritualistic puja and offering of flavoured drinks and fruits.The closing week of the last fortnight witnesses hectic activities inside.The wooden body needs seven layers of coating which is called Sapatavarana It is strange how the Deities pose themeves to be dressed up in human form! The skeletal frame gets anointed with perfumed oil and various kinds of paste at suitable intervals. Some pastes are made from sandal wood, camphor (Karpura), musk (kasturi), and quicklime (khadi). Other pastes are from wheat flour (khali) which is pasted on the Deities after the Deities are placed upright on their respective round stone blocks which is called chakalagi. Similarly for massaging different oils (mainly sesame) are used. One of the major oil preparations is phulari tela (a medicated oil), used for the Deities on the fifth lunar day. On the twelveth day two major events take place. One is Raja prasada. The assigned servitors go in a procession to the Palace of Gajapati Maharaja (who is the foremost servitor) carrying with them Chandana nirmlaya of the Deities). Another event which takes place late night is Pada rachana or symbolic formation of Deities` feet. The servitors make use of long loin cloth (gada) and silk ropes (ghana) for the purpose. When the pada rachana ritual is on, care is taken that no sound would be audible outside, and to neutralize it, musical sound continues outside.During the last three days of the second fortnight,servitors adept in painting (Datta Mahapatra) remain busy in painting the deities deftly in various colours. Thus, the Deities are donned up majestically with bewitching eyes and flambuoyance of youth.Their Naba Jauvana and Netrotsava are thus joyously celebrated. In the night of amavasya the Patti Devatas (three paintings and seven metallic idols, unitedly known as Dasavatara or ten incarnations or manifestations) are removed.The Chaturddhamurtti now gets ready to bless the concourse of devotees irrespective of caste and creed who would be impatiently awaiting before the chariots. The Maha ansasara is virtually the valedictory ritual of Nabakalebara.

It may be mentioned here that Patitapavana idol at the entrance to the main temple also remains in anasara there itself and before Him is kept a painting of Ananta Naryayana. During the Maha anasara, the Ratnasimhasana remains vacant. All cooked food and confectionery prepared in the divine kitchen are offered to lord Nrusingha (Aadi Jagannatha), installed near the tati-Devata-s and re-offered to goddess Vimala in order to be treated as Mahaprasada.

Six Mathas (monasteries) play significant role during the Naba Kalebara. Jagannatha Ballabha Matha (where the Daru-campaigners sojourn for a day and a half), Deuli Matha at Kakatapur– (a branch of Emara Matha) where Banajaga Jatri-s sojourn, Radhakanta Matha (which arranges processional chant with musical accompaniments), Raghaba Das Matha (which provides panti, bugule, canopy etc. for 45 days), Bada Odia Matha (which provides Phuluri Oil, Chaka apasara, Srimundi chandua, sarbanga chandana etc.) and Uttaraparshwa Matha (which provides four vesselful pana (drink) on the arrival of each divine Daru at the northern gate (Deva dwara) of the Main Temple. Other affiliated mathas also contribute their mite during the Mahaprasada seva on the 13th day hosted by the Daita community.

Three upa-Jatras or festivals of lesser magnitude are celebrated either a day or two before the commencement of Ratha Jatra. On the completion of normal anasara (a fifteen-day-long) or a month-long maha anasara secret rituals, the Deities are Exposed for public darshana. This event is known as Ubha Jatra (maiden exposure). It is followed by Naba Jaubana Vesha when the Deities are decked out in their splendid clothes. The day following happens to be the first lunar day of the bright fortnight of pure asadha month (asadha sukla pratipada tithi) when Netrotsava (Divine Eye Celebration) is celebrated. Assigned initiated servitors give final touches to the Eyes of the Deities. In case of exigency when the preceding lunar fortnight becomes less than fifteen days, the Netrotsava is likely to be shifted to the next day, i.e. the morning of Ratha Jatra as per Bamadeva Samhita (ch 15/ 15,62-63) and Niladri Mahodaya (ch 15/89)

The very sight of the lidless lustrous round Eyes (Chakadola) of mysterious Jagannatha heightens mirth and spiritual ecstasy of all devotees present there.

Thus the Chaturddhamurtti assumes Nabakalebara (new body), and they once more re-apperar as Daru Brahma to bless the human race. They remain enthusiastically seated in their majestic wooden chariots, i.e. Taladhvaja (Balabhadra's chariot), Darpadalana (goddess Subhadra's and Sudarshana's chariot) and Nandighosa (Jagannatha's chariot).

How can Brahman, the Deathless One, the Eternity Itself ignore His Creation? Nabakalebara is but a sportive prank of the Brahman in Daru-sharira (wooden body) to emphasize on Life's or Soul's immortality.

Charles Grome's Report of 1805

(Extract from Para 38 of the comprehensive report of Charles Grome, the Collector of Zilla Jugunnath, Puri on 10th June 1805)

Para 38 The ceremony of Nabakalebara has been reported by Charles Grome in his report & 10th June 1805. "When assar (asadha) happens to be an intercalary month it is necessary to take up the idols cloth and have the body completely examined, when if any part of him is gone to decay or by any means weekend, a new case or body must be made to contain the sacred deposit and the Dytahs and Putties who remove the sacred substance from the old case to the new one are blind-folded and have the seal of the purchas fixed on the cloth over the eyes". Charles Grome further reported that "the expense attending this ceremony amounts to some thousands of rupees". He therefore proposed that "when it occurs the Deul curan make out an estimate of the expenses specifying every particular which the Purchas are to forward for the information and orders of Government with the least possible delay".

The importance of the temple of Jagannath was well known to the British long before their conquest of Orissa which is evident from the letter of Marquis of Wellesley issued on 3 Aug 1803 to Lt Colonel Campbell and John Melville wherein he gave order for the occupation of the province. Wellesley wrote. “On your arrival at Juggernaut you will employ every possible precaution to preserve the respect due to the Pagoda and to the religious prejudices of the Brahmins and Pilgrims”. In the eyes of Britishers the temple of Jagannath was looked upon as a prominent Hindu institution having a great political influence behind it. After the occupation of Orissa Harcourt had remarked with reference to the temple that “in a political light its value is in calculable”. The British policy towards the temple was formulated in the following years taking into account the religious feelings of the devotees and pilgrims. Therefore much attention was paid by the British authority during religions festivals of the temple.

To

H.T.Prinsep,
Secretary to Government in the Territorial Department, Fort William

Sir,

I do myself the honour to submit copy of a letter from the acting Collector of Cuttack dated the 8th instant requesting that the sanction of government may be obtained to the disbursement of Rs. 5500 in the purchase of the necessary materials for construction of three idols at Juggernath and in the performance of certain ceremonies.

2. it is already known to the Government that a fixed sum is allowed annually for the expenses of the temple at Juggernath which covers the whole of the customary disbursements. The occasion in which the additional charge has been now applied for, however, being of any rare occurrence, the charges attending it could not have been included in the estimates for the annual allowances.

The renewal of the bodies of the three idols at Juggernath takes place so often as Asarh is an intercalary month which has only happened once before or since our acquiring possession of the province and may not occur again for many years-on the last occasion of the above ceremony becoming necessary. Mr. Commissioner Butler was in the district, and in compliance with the recommendation contained in a letter from here, dated the 21st of March 1809 a sum similar to that now applied for was authorized by Government to be disbursed.

I therefore beg to leave to recommend that the collector should be authorized to pay to the superintendent and the Dewal Parichhas, the amount of Rupees 5500 out of the surplus tax collections, in addition to the sum fixed for the annual expenses of the temple.

Yours most humble servant

(Correspondence related to celebration of Nabakalebara in 1855. 18th July, 1855)

From

A.S.Anand, Magistrate of Puri, to Commissioner of Circuit, Cuttack

Puri Magistracy, 18th July, 1855

Sir,

I regret much having to report to you that a serious accident took place at the opening of the temple gates to admit the pilgrims to the shrine of Juggernauth in the morning of Sunday last the 15th instant in which 3 men and 4 women were killed as below stated-

2nd. My assistant Mr.Clarke with the town Darogah and a large body of police were in charge of the main entrance before which double barriers of the greatest strength had been erected, whilst the Deputy Magistrate and Major were posted in the temple having numerous parties of police under their orders stationed at every turning and dangerous part where the crowd was likely to be impeded by the narrowness of the way or danger might be apprehended from any other cause and I believe that every precaution in my power had been taken both within and without the building to guard against accident of any kind-

3rd. The great majority of the pilgrims this year were however upcountry men amongst whom there are said to have been upwards of 1800 sepoys and when the gates were opened these people being too impatient to enter through the doors in the barriers swarmed over them in immense numbers and made a rush at the temple gate which our police were wholly unable to resist, the foremost fell or were pushed down in the narrow passage by the multitude pressing on them behind and I regret to say that three men and four women were crushed to death. One of the women was taken out of the temple alive but she died in the Pilgrim Hospital shortly after her arrival there-

4th. I was at the temple almost immediately after the accident and finding that the doors had very properly been closed and that we had no adequate force to resist a second rush which from the excited state of the people it was evident would have taken place if the doors were again opened and in which in all probability many more lives would have been sacrificed, I ordered that they should remain closed throughout the day and until the idols were brought out on Monday-

5th. You are aware that a new image of Juggernauth has been made this year and that in consequence the number of pilgrims has been more than double what it usually is. They have been estimated at 200000 and I donot think that there were fever in Pooree on Sunday and Monday last, and twothirds of these being upcountry men the small police force of Bengalees at my disposal was wholly inadequate to keep them under control. All my subordinates exerted themselves to the utmost but they were borne(?) down by the numbers and impetuousity of the mob which led to the catastrophe. It has been my painful duty to report.-

I have the Honour to be
Sir,

Your most obedient servant

(Notes on Nabakalebara in 1874 found from the Board of Revenue Record on 1874.)

Nabakalebara is the periodical renewal of the wooden images Lord Jagannatha, Balabhadra, Subhadra and Sudarsana in the Jagannatha Temple. The ceremony is unique in many respects which involves a total replacement of four images after a certain period and the old images are buried under ground. The ceremony usually takes place either in the 12th or 19th year when two asadha fall.

A Nabakalebara ritual was held in 1874 on which a document pertaining to the ceremony is now in the collection of Orissa State Archives. The document is a note on the Nabakalebara ritual of 1874. Mr. Armstrong was the Magistrate of Puri during the period and in order to have good order, safety, convenience, health the ferry arrangement for the pilgrims was given much importance. The festival commences from 31 May 1874 i.e. from the date of Snan Yatra.

(Acc. No-157 Bd. Doc)

It has been reported that "on the occasion of the Snana Yatra or the bathing festival it is necessary to see that the Snana Bedi and the compound be fully cleared the day before and the preliminaries be so managed that the images be carried to the Bedi just at day light and the festival of bathing taken place at 9 am". After the bathing ceremony of the deities they are kept within and the public are not allowed to see them till the Naba Jubana which took place on 14 July 1874 and on the next day the car festival was held. From the day of Snana Yatra to Naba Jubana festival it took about one month and 15 days. It has been reported that "the congregation of the pilgrims will come up to two or 3 lakhs" and for their accommodation and transport proper arrangement were made.

A descriptive list of documents surveyed and listed by the State cell of Bhubaneswar during 1982-85 have been included in the National Register of Records in Private Collection. The collection of the temple office of Lord Jagannatha covering the period 1720-1875 have been reported in the Register which includes reports, notices, expenditure – statements, agreements, parwanas, court judgment of different festivals of the temple such as Snan Yatra, Rath Yatra, and Nabakalebara etc. The following documents in the Register are worth mentioning.

1. Letter 8 May 1874 from T.E. Ravenshw Commissioner of Orissa Division, Cuttack to Raja Dibyasingh Dev requesting the latter to attend the meeting with Narsimha Khuntia and others to be held at Puri in connection with security arrangements during Nabakalebara festival of Lord Jagannatha.
2. Minutes, 19 May 1874 of discussion regarding arrangement made during the Nabakelabara and car festival at Puri during the year 1874.

In order to secure good order, safety, convenience and health of the pilgrims it is necessary for us to exert ourselves on the following five points

1 Ferry
2 Location of the pilgrims
3 Sanitation and Conservancy.
4 Healthy and timely food.
5 Health and medicine.
6 Convenience in the Darshans.

The festival commences from the 18th Jyet B.S. 20th Jyt Losa Sunday. ie 31st May 1874 - On this day the Snan Jatra takes place - On the occassion of the Snan Jatra or the bathing festival it is necessary to see that the Snan Bedi and its Compound be fully cleansed the day before and the preliminaries be so managed that the images be carried to the Bedi just at day light and the festival of bathing takes place at 9 a.m. for this purpose a Hindoo officer with the Police be deputed from the day before to be looking sharply after the deeds of the temple officers.

That very day the images are kept inside as usual and the public are not allowed to see them till the Nabajowbana.

The Soho Jowbana festival takes place on 31st Assar N.S.
1st Srabon Sudi ie Tuesday
the 14th July 1874 — and the Rath Jatra takes place the next day — Wednesday —
As regards the festival itself the pilgrims have relation to three things (1st) to obtain Mukaprosad for food from the Sraon day to the day of Soho Jowbana exactly at 11 a.m. (one month and 15 days)
The course adopted by our worthy magistrate last year, is, I think the best with regard to this point. — (2nd) to obtain a view of the images
at the occasion of Nabajowbana.
This must rest with the superintendent of the temple with the assistance of the Police — The rules framed

last year must guide us in selecting Chosin our Caste -
The Raths or Cars must come to the temple doors exactly after the 1st Bhog on the Nabajouban Day — on this point the Superintendent must be very strictly warned - negligence on his part in preparing the Raths in good time will cause very great inconvenience to the pilgrims and frustrate all our arrangements.
Some officer be authorized to see the progress of the Cars done at regular periods —
It is expected that the congregation of pilgrims

this year will come upto two or 3 lacs of souls – Most of them will be up country men – Bengalis pilgrims who are very scrupulous as to auspicious time according to Hindoo Sastras are not expected to come during the bad days of Mala masha
and even the wretched Vaishalya
the class of Nasra and Koris will be deterred by the rains and the famine from visiting this town this year – First of all we are to look to their crossing the rivers as quickly as possible in as much as their long details on the river sides beneath showers and under pressure of want of food causes & Cholera to break out and carry thousands to the region of death. It is expected that all the 2 or 3 lacs will pass ~~to & from~~ in 3 or 4 days.

Each day 20 or 30 thousand souls are expected to cross a ghat - One boat
can easily cross in a whole day 1000 men in 20 times
in small rivers - In Katjoori & Mahanadi the case is somewhat different. It seems that there will be no good order unless 20 or 25 boats are kept for 4 days before the Rath and 4 days after it. I can not give an exact ~~calculation~~ estimate but this will give us an idea of the number of boats.
Simple supply of boats is not enough – There is necessity of very strict supervision – the Ghat people are a body of notorious band of opprobrious – A cart will be detained for 3 days for the sake of a rupee.

Secondly we should look to the safe and healthy location of all these men. Pooree can scarcely give place to more than 50 or 60 thousand pilgrims in her houses. and if more people be allowed to gather in the lodging houses there will be great ravages of Cholera and death. I would propose that we should now provide for lodging places in the Mangoe gardens around the town. Near Lokenath that there are many spacious gardens which will give shelter to about 50 thousand men — and near Goondicha

the gardens will supply
place to an equal number.
It will be necessary to make temporary depots in these places with some Sal tatties from the Health fund. By these arrangement
we will give shelter to about 2 lacs of men.

Thirdly in looking to the question of sanitation our duty is to see strict cleanliness in their houses and the streets.
Bazars articles, Mohaproad stores and drinking waters should be strictly examined and reported to the magistrate at intervals. Sick men and dead bodies should be quickly removed from the roads and houses. This part of the duty will fall on the Health office establishment with a greater supervision than in past years. Doolies Scavengers carts and Mehtars with a peon to look after them should always be kept in several parts of the town.

We must next look at the question of Health and Medicine. It is necessary for a month or two to entertain two more native doctors one to open a branch out door

hospital near the Saipdoar and the other to inspect pilgrim depots twice in a day with a box of medicine.
This should be done with great care.

Convenient and safe Darshan is our last point. This is the duty of the Superintendent of the temple.
Though there are advantages and great many disadvantages in these works, I cannot see any reason why he should not abide by them
while he has been allowed all the advantages of the temple. As regards the Sobhajan bana Darshan
there is scarcely any thing

now for this year except that the Superintendent must pay for and employ a much larger number of Sicca Police for the purpose.
I should think that the Cars should also be enclosed by Barricades with an entrance from the Sigdoah in order to avoid unhappy occurrences at the time of the arrival of the images & the cars.
When the up country men have a great anxiety to touch the images with their hands and heads -

We have full hopes of success when such

Newspaper Reports

(Utkala Deepika, 1874)

June 6- A committee was set up in Puri on the occasion of Ratha Jatra. The names of the members of this committee and their duties are not communicated to us. As a Nuakalebara is to take place this year pilgrims are expected to be more. Hence it was expected that considerable attention would be given to this issue by the members of the committee.

(Utkala Deepika, 06 June 1874)

18th July- In Education Gazettee a letter is published on Nutana Kalebara. In the letter it is stated that whenever there is a Nutana Kalebara, on the Krishna Trayodasi the Brahma-padartha (life substance) is placed in the Nabakalebara and the old kalebara is buried. This is the rule. This year on that day the Nutana kalebara was not done and it was done after three days. As the Nabakalebara was not accomplished on the fixed day and time, Brahma-vastu (life substance) did not leave the old body and so did not get the new body. The writer asked the question on the death of the old image. The writer also asked on the legitimacy of Puja and Mahaparasada on that occasion. The writer therefore wanted a solution of this issue by learned men.

(Utkala Deepika, 18 July 1874)

July 25- In the previous week it was reported by us that the change of the body of Jagannatha was done on the Amabasya day and that it was not in the Malamasa. We get the news now that on that day Amabasya lasted for 17/41 danda. But the ritual of the change of the body was conducted towards the end of the night or the morning of the following day-Monday. From this it appears that this was done in the Malamasa. According to Deula Karana Madalapanji refers to the conduct of the ritual of the change of the body in the Trayodasi. Only once before that occasion the ritual of the change of the body of Jagannatha was conducted before Malamasa. The Maharaja of Puri reported that the ritual was done in the Amabasya and that this is a correct practice. But as a matter of fact after the end of Amabasya during the Malamasa it is to be conducted. Anyway after the end of Ratha Jatra Kedarnath Datta (Deputy Magistrate) would solve this problem after consulting the pundits.

15 July After 1874 the Nabakalebara ceremony was performed in the year 1893. The superintendent of the temple was not prepared for complete renewal of this images on financial consideration as a result of which partial Nabakelabara was performed.

(Utkala Deepika 8 July 1893)

15 July – A large number of pilgrims came to Puri during the car festival of 1893. The Nabakalebara_ ceremony was to performed from the night of 13 July to the morning of 14 July, but unfortunately this ceremony could not be performed .

(Utkala Deepika 15 July 1893)

23 July – As reported earlier the Naba Jaubana ceremony could not be performed on the specified day because large number of pilgrims gathered of Puri at result of which it was apprehended to control their entry and exit during the festival.

(Utkala Deepika 22 July 1893)

23 July – The car festival was held on 15 July 1893. It was estimated that about 2 lakhs pilgrims had come to Puri during the year. Because of high cost of living many of the pilgrims took their shelter on the roads which were over crowded. As the construction of cars was still in progress the Deities were installed on the cars at midnight of 15 July. It became impossible to control the crowd although Babu Madhusudan Das who was present on this spot persuaded them to clear the cars. However the Magistrate and Police did their best to control and it was possible to drag the car of Lord Balabhadra at 7 am of 16 July which reached of Mausima temple on the someday. The car of deity Subhadra could reach near Narendra Sankha on 17 July. The Hera Punchami ceremony was performed on 19 July at Galaghanti where the car of Lord Jagannatha was stationed.

(Utkala Deepika 22 July 1893)

29 July – The car of Deity Subhadhra reached at Mausima temple on 20 July and on 21 July car of Lord Jagannatha could reached there. The Sandhya Darshana ceremony was held on 22 July. It was a religious custom to install the deities at Jagamohan which however could be possible on 24 July. As it was not possible to perform religious rites on time the deities at last installed at Jagamohana on 24 July.

(Utkala Deepika 29 July 1893)

12 Aug – It took about one month complete, this car festival of Lord Jagannatha during the year. The return car festival was held on 4 August and many religious rites committed with the car festival could not be performed.

13 July - The Nabakalebara festival of the year 1912 was the first festival of its kind after the establishment of railway link with Puri. Hence it was expected that an unprecedented number of pilgrims would visit Puri at the time of the festival. In 1893 a partial renewal of the deities had taken place, which had attracted a very large gathering of pilgrims according to the public memory. At that time a virulent outbreak of cholera had taken place in Puri, resulting in many deaths. The car festival of 1912 was attended by about 300,000 people. The pilgrims were supplied with drinking water by the local authorities. Nevertheless cholera broke out, and there were 373 deaths in July and 680 in August 1912. The arrangements made by the railway authorities at the Puri, Sakhigopal and Bhubaneswar railway stations for the pilgrim traffic were found to be unsatisfactory which became a cause of mortality from cholera. Fairly satisfactory arrangements were made for watering and feeding the pilgrims at the Puri railway station. But there was a serious overcrowding at the Puri railway station and people defecated promiscuously on the ground, instead of using latrines. This unhygienic habit became a cause of outbreak of cholera.

On the tenth day after the Nabakalevara festival, the Daitas, who are supposed to be the original worshippers of Lord Jagannatha had a funeral shaving at the Markandeya tank. On the twelfth day all the servitors ate Mahaprasad together.

From—Pandit Raja Ballabh Misra, M.A., District Magistrate, Puri,

To—The Commissioner, Orissa Division, Cuttack.

I have the honour to submit the following report on the Car Festival held at Puri in July last.

Necessity for the report—explained.

2. This festival is an annual event in this town and it has hitherto not been customary to review it in a separate report. But the last festival was one of extraordinary importance in many ways. It was immediately preceded by the renovation of the bodies of the three Chief Deities in the temple of Jagannath, the ceremony in common parlance being called Navakalebar, occurring as it does only once in 36 years, it is held in great sanctity all over Hindu India, and this year witnessed the ceremony for the first time since the advent of the railway into these parts. As expected, it attracted a vast concourse of pilgrims to this small town, necessitating police, sanitary and railway arrangements on an unprecedented scale. It is only proper that such a unique gathering should not go unchronicled. Not only does the intrinsic importance of the occasion itself entitle it to a record, but the administrative experiences gained deserve to be brought into prominence in order that they may prove a valuable guide for the handling of such crowds in future.

Absence of any data to go by.

3. The initial obstacle in the way of our framing estimates for the occasion was the total absence of any data to go by. This Navakalebar was perhaps the second of its kind, since the British conquest of Orissa and as I have said above the first since the opening of railway to the district, there was, I am told, a partial renewal of the Deities in 1893 and it attracted a very large gathering of pilgrims, but no record is available either in my office or in the office of the Superintendent of the temple as to the actual number that visited this town and the various arrangements that had been made to meet the situation. It is associated in public memory with a virulent outbreak of cholera which is alleged to have strewed the main roads to the town and the street in it with heaps of the dying and the dead. This was precisely the condition which we wanted and worked to avoid. Within recent time, the Car Festival of 1899, the year when the railway was opened—was attended by serious outbreak of cholera and Captain Anderson was specially deputed by Government to exempt the local condition. The Government orders on this report contained in their No. 1675-S. of 2nd April 1903, however, threw a very helpful light on the situation and full advantage was taken of the instructions embodied therein in framing our programme for the present occasion.

Preliminary steps taken to meet with the situation.

4. There was another uncertain element that added to the difficulties at the very start. The conditions precedent to the occurrence of such a ceremony are certain astronomical coincidences, the most prominent feature of which is the occurrence of two lunar months of Asar within a particular year, they were all realised during the current year. The Mahants, Pandas, Sebaks and the Hindu public were, therefore, all expectant that the ceremony would take place in July last, but the Superintendent of the temple, the Puri Raja set his face against it. He was not pulling on

No. 2221 F., dated Cuttack, the 2nd November 1912.

From—W. Esserton, Esq., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Orissa Division,

To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bihar and Orissa.

I have the honour to forward, for the information of Government, copy of a report from the District Magistrate of Puri, No. 1936J., dated the 14th October 1912, regarding the Puri Car Festival of 1912.

2. The Car Festival took place in July 1912, the number of pilgrims being unusually large owing to the ceremony of "Nua Kalebar," i.e., renewing of the idols. It is estimated that about 300,000 people attended the festival. The arrangements were well made and efficiently carried out by the local officers. A special feature was the supply of drinking water from reserved wells and its distribution by means of pipes and hydrants. The total number of deaths from cholera amounted to 373 in July and 680 in August 1912. Considering the immense crowd and the difficulty in getting the pilgrims away after the festival, the mortality, though regrettable, is not large, and the epidemic was successfully dealt with.

3. As regards the arrangements made by the railway authorities both at Puri railway station and at Sakhigopal and Bhubaneswar stations, I have the honour to draw the special attention of Government to paragraphs 59—65 of the District Magistrate's report. The Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company's arrangements appear to have been unsatisfactory, and a good deal of the mortality from cholera seems to have arisen from this cause. I would suggest that, in future years, the Railway Company should be made to satisfy the requirements of the Sanitary Commissioner, and the District Magistrate and Civil Surgeon of Puri as regards sanitation. The Railway Company should also, in co-operation with other companies, issue through return tickets at special prices to pilgrims. Much of the delay at the railway stations arises from the fact that the booking clerks are unable to calculate the exact amount of the fare to distant places. This is a matter which, I think, might be laid before the Railway Board so that orders could be obtained prior to the Car Festival of 1913.

4. The total expenditure incurred amounted to Rs. 82,065. Total receipts from all sources amounted to Rs. 59,827, leaving a net expenditure of Rs. 22,238. Of this Rs. 9,416 was paid by the Municipality, and Rs. 12,822 from the Puri Lodging House Fund. Considering the extent of the arrangements the expenditure was by no means excessive.

5. The attention of Government is drawn to paragraphs 67 and 68 of the Magistrate's report, which contain suggestions of the Civil Surgeon and the Magistrate. All these suggestions seem worth consideration. It is not, however, probable that the crowd will be so large again for many years to come.

6. I think special credit is due to Pandit Rama Ballabh Misra, District Magistrate, Dr. Pulipaka, Civil Surgeon, Mr. S. N. Walker, Superintendent of Police, and Babu Nirupam Chandra Ray Chaudhuri, District Engineer, Puri, for the good work done by them in this connection.

Copy of a note to the Public Works Department on the Railway arrangements in connection with the Rathjatra at Puri in July 1912.

I place on the file a copy of a letter from the Agent, Bengal-Nagpur Railway, which shows the arrangements they proposed to make to deal with the pilgrim traffic during the Car Festival, and a copy of a statement drawn up by the Civil Surgeon which shows the number of passengers they actually carried. From paragraph 8 of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Agent's letter it will be seen that they estimated to carry 11,150 passengers to Puri daily between the 6th and the 15th August. They actually carried an average of 8,756; but during the three latter days of the period on which the traffic was most congested they carried 15,800, 17,000 and 24,600, which was much above their estimate. Considering that the line is single, which adds materially to the difficulty of transport, I consider the Railway as far as the carriage of the pilgrims is concerned, acted up to their proposals in a very business-like manner.

2. In considering the delays which are complained of in removing pilgrims from way side stations as at Sakhigopal, it should be borne in mind that the urgency of the traffic at these way side stations was not to be compared with that of Puri; and that those who were waiting at them had to meet with many disappointments in seeing train loads of pilgrims pass through without taking them up. From Sakhigopal, which was the most important of these way side stations I understand special trains were run as soon as a sufficient number of pilgrims had accumulated to make it worthwhile dealing with them.

3. The arrangements for watering and feeding the pilgrims at Puri while they were waiting for the trains in the railway compound were fairly satisfactory and at other important stations on the line temporary arrangements were I understand, made; but I can only speak of the arrangements at Sakhigopal from personal experience. At this station the water-supply from a well which had been specially protected failed and the railway had to send down a truck with two tanks of drinking water from Khurda Road Station.

4. The overcrowding at the Puri Railway Station was serious, and on future occasions much more attention ought to be given to controlling the crowds of pilgrims waiting to be removed. Most of the earlier cases of cholera occurred at this spot owing to the people defecating promiscuously over the ground instead of using the latrines and to the plague of flies which carried the contagious material. It was impossible to keep the compound clean under the conditions that existed.

5. There is ample room in the compound to accommodate the pilgrims; but only a portion of it was utilized. The pilgrims were allowed to crowd together just in front of the station entrance to the platform. The Railway authorities repeatedly asked that no more pilgrims should be allowed inside the compound than they could deal with at once; but the arrangements for control were inadequate. I am told the crowd on several occasions broke through the fencing.

6. The whole subject ought, I think, to be thoroughly discussed by a committee before the next big festival occurs. This was the first occasion on which the railway have had to deal with such a large crowd, since the line was opened, and the weak points in the system have shown up prominently. The Railway Station and its surrounding is one of the most important points in Puri both from a sanitary and an administrative point of view.

7. The Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India proposes to enquire into the arrangements for organizing and controlling pilgrim traffic at all the important centres throughout India, perhaps during the ensuing cold weather, and advantage should be taken of his experience and advice to make the arrangements more perfect.

Temple Manager's Office,
Dated Puri, the 29th April 1912

From

Babu Raj Kishore Das, Manager, Jagannath Temple, Puri.

To

The Magistrate of Puri.

Sir,

With reference to Government Order contained in para 2 of their letter No. 1467 P dated the 2nd March 1908 I have the honor to submit the following brief note on the subject of the management of the Temple of Jagannth for the Uriya year 1318, 1318.

The appended statement will show the effect of the year's working on the financial condition of the -- Temple. As compared with last year, the totals under the -- different heads of receipts do not show much variation --- except that under the head income from pilgrims". This --- income is necessarily unsteady as it varies with the number and quality of the pilgrims that visit the shrine, and no particular reason can be assigned for the fluctuation.

The totals under the different heads of --- ordinary expenditure show a decrease as compared with last year which is satisfactory. The total extraordinary ---- expenditure entered in the cash book shews a considerable increase. This is due to payment of certain old debts and the charges for auditing the accounts.

During the year under report the pucca --- granary under construction last year was completed. A line of tile sheds for the storeage of-- and sale of mahaprasad was also constructed with two open sheds of similar --- construction for people to sit in and take prasad. This work along with the building up of certain walls near the north gate has cost nearly ten thousand rupees, but the works are much appreciated by the public. The repairs of the Gundicha Mandir were commenced during the year and work is proceeding. The cost of the work exceeds all previous calculations and it is difficult to say what the ultimate expenditure would come up to.

Puri.
12th July 1912.

Dear sir,

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your memo No. 946 J.of 28th June1912,enclosing copies of certain [illegible] official correspondence regarding the liability of the Temple to contribute to the cost of the additional Police force employed [illegible] festival.

In reply I beg most respectfully to submit that I have little to add to what I stated on the subject in paras 5 & 6 of my printed report of 18-1-1904 on which the Government orders contained in their letter No. 1092 J.G of 25th May 1904 were passed.It may be that in the report of the Committee of March 1903 which were appointed to frame a scheme for Police arrangement and the subsequent correspondence only the Police arrangement inside the Temple were entrusted to the Superintendent and the deed of agreement of 1869 was entered into and the terms were repeated in the formal deed of assignment of 1863,the arrangement,I beg most respectfully to urge, was contemplated to limit the demand from the Temple, for all time whether the occasion was an ordinary or an extraordinary one. As matter of fact since the agreement of 1869 one Nabakalebara & two other big festivals have occured in which there have been abnormal gatherings,but on no occasion has the Temple been called upon to make any contribution for the extra Police.There have been no doubt occasions when Govt have been compelled to employ the regular Police inside the Temple owing to the Superintendent's mismanagement and have realized the cost from him,but, true to the strict policy of non-interference in religious matters the Government have always deserted from making any charge on the Temple for the outside police,and there seems hardly any reason for any departure from this policy on this occasion.

17 July - The Nabakalevar festival of 1931 was attended by pilgrims from different parts of India. Elaborate arrangements were made for maintaining law and order and sanitation at Puri. The arrangements were supervised by the Commissioner of the Odisha division. The railway authorities took necessary steps for the pilgrim traffic. Water was supplied to the pilgrims in the nearby railway stations. Special trains were provided for the pilgrims. Temporary structures were raised at Puri for accommodating the large number of pilgrims most of whom could not be provided accommodation in the dharmasalas. A special committee was formed under the chairmanship of the Collector of Puri for the smooth management of the festival. 350 scavengers were deployed for cleaning the Puri town. Before entry into the town the pilgrims were given anti-cholera injection. Many doctors were deployed for looking after health problems. From Bhubaneswar to Puri thousands of policemen were deployed on the wayside. Many Congress volunteers were supplying drinking water to the pilgrims and looking after their comforts. In spite of all elaborate arrangements the Pandas or Priests of the temple caused discomfort and inconvenience to the pilgrims and visitors by delaying the Pahandi of the deities as late as 5 P.M. There were quite number of local aristocrats such as princesses, maharajas and zamindars who assembled in the palace of the Raja of Puri, the Superintendent of the temple of Lord Jagannatha to watch the Navakalevar festival. The chariots of the deities reached the Gundicha temple on 18 July around 3 P.M.

SUPPLEMENT II

NABA-KALEBAR OF 1969 AND THE CAR FESTIVAL

BY

Shri Nilamani Senapati, B.Sc. (Calcutta), B. A. (Cantab), F. R. G. S., I. C. S. (Retd.)

There is so much of confused notion about Naba-Kalebar that I propose to set down what exactly is happening in the year 1969 at least for record for the future.

The year in which the body of Jagannath will be changed is fixed by the Astrologers. It is a year when there are two months of Ashadh. The lunar month being a little less than 28 days and the solar month being 30 days, to bridge the gap of nearly a month every year, astrologers sometimes prescribe two months instead of one. In this way they preserve approximately the season in which lunar festivals are held, so that people who can easily follow the changing phases of the moon can have the festivals approximately in the same season every year. In 1969, there are two Ashadhs, from the middle of June till the middle of August, instead of only from middle of June to middle of July. The car festival of Lord Jagannath which falls on the second day after the new moon of Ashadh comes this year on 19th of July.

Naba-Kalebar which literally means new body is made out of a newly cut Neem tree and will last till the next Naba-Kalebar which may come from 12 to 18 years from now.*

A notion which is widely held is that the tree which is cut this year will be kept for the next Naba-Kalebar and that the Naba-Kalebar of this year will be made out of the wood which was cut during the Naba-Kalebar of 1950. This is a wrong notion. The tree which has been cut on the 15th of May, 1969 will be the Jagannath who will appear for public view on the day of Netrotsab on 19th of July, 1969.

The ceremony of Naba-Kalebar starts on the day a party of priests go in search of Daru, i. e., the tree. This year it started on 20th of March, 1969, the 10th day after the new moon of Chaitra. The journey is known as Bana-Jatra. The party which went out consisted of 28 Daitas, 1 Pati Mahapatra, 4 Brahmin priests, 4 Vaswakarmas (carpenters), 5 members of the temple police, 1 Lenka carrying the Sudarsan Chakra (the wheel emblem of Vishnu), 1 Kahalia (bugler), 1 Deula Karan

* The Naba-Kalebar of this year (1977) came after 8 years.

Plate 55 - Nabakalebara of 1969, Puri Gazetteer

(accountant) totalling 43. They had to carry lots of material for the ceremonies which they have to perform at every Dara. The agency employed two bullock-carts. After spending the last night at Pandhey sasan in Kakatpur and strayed at Dhanka Matha. According to Sarala, the Pati Mahapatra declared the directions in which the 4 Daras of Jagannath, Balabhadra, Subhadra and Sudarsana have to be looked for. They were blessed by Mangala, the presiding goddess of Kakatpur. Then they set out in different parties looking for the Daras. The dreams may or may not have happened, but there is no doubt that information had come from before of possible areas where the Daras could be found. I have definite information that very often Lord Jagannath's Dara at Chandanjhar near Khurda was sent to the Daras sometime before Bahuda-Jatra. The party which was looking for Jagannath's Dara made straight for Chandanjhar first. They would have looked for a Dara elsewhere if the Chandanjhar Dara did not satisfy the criteria prescribed for selection. It has to be a very old and fat Neem tree.

The 10 signs are:

1) A Baruna bush in the neighbourhood. The notion that there must be also a Sahara Bush is also correct.

2) The tree must stand near a river.

3) There must be an Ashram (hermitage) near the tree.

4) There must be a cremation ground near it.

5) There must be the four sacred signs of Chakra (wheel)-Sankha (conch-shell), Gada (mace), and Padma (lotus).

6) The tree shanks have no branches up to a certain height (probably 12') from the ground and all the branches must be in threes.

7) There must be an ant-hill at the foot of the tree.

8) There should be no bird's nest on it.

9) There should be a cobra at the foot of the tree.

10) There should be no creeper or parasite on the tree. At Chandanjhar the top branches were entwined with branches of a tamarind tree. The tamarind tree has also been cut for making a cart for carrying the Daru.

At least 5 of these signs must be there before a tree is selected. At Chandanjhar the tree had the following signs:—

1. It was near a cremation ground

Plate 56 - Nabakalebara of 1969, Puri Gazetteer

2. It had two of the sacred signs, i. e., the wheel and conch-shell clearly visible on the bark.

3. It branched in threes.

4. There was an ant-hill at the foot of the tree.

5. There was no bird's nest.

6. 3 cobras had been seen coming out of the ant-hill.

7. It was a very old Jat tree with a girth of 15' at ground level and free of branches up to a height of 12'.

8. There was no creeper or parasite.

Location of Daru

Jagannath's Daru stood on Plot No. 928 belonging to Gobindha Bramha in village Champajhar of Puri district which belongs to the Ekharajat Mahal, the landed property of Lord Jagannath.

Balabhadra's Daru was found on Plot No. 1285 at village Bhakarsahi, hamlet Gada Chari Pada, in Balipatna Police Station of Puri district belonging to Keshab Chandra Patra.

Subhadra's Daru was found at village Kanhupur in Police Station Govindapur in Cuttack district on Plot No. 254 which is Gochar (belonging to the whole village).

Sudarsan's Daru was found at village Balara near Banamalipur in Police Station Balipatna of Puri district.

After the Daru has been located, Homa is performed until the auspicious day for cutting it. At Champajhar it lasted for three days and cutting of the tree started in the afternoon of the 16th of May, 1969. Crowds collected during this period, causing confusion and law and order problems for the authorities. Although it is laid down in Sankha Purun that "Swarupam Na Anupam Na Napashyet Chhedan Abadhe", that is, people should not see the Daru before it is cut, the rule was not known to the people and no body took them to desist from visiting the Daru. Crowds not only collected but started chipping off bark inspite of the priests trying to dissuade them.

The cutting started at 3 p. m. on the 16th May, 1969. Biswanath Puri Mohapatra (of Bidyapati family) first touched the Daru with a golden axe. Then Daitapati Rajkishore Das Mohapatra touched it with a silver axe. Then the 4 Viswakarmas (carpenters) started cutting. They soon got tired and wanted the help of the villagers which was at the beginning not forthcoming. Later they came forward and helped.

Plate 57 - Nabakalebara of 1969, Puri Gazetteer

During the Naba-Kalebar of 1950, Balabhadra's Dara was found at Jakhpur near Kakatpur in Puri district. The owner was a Mahammedan who first refused to give it. But his wife not only gave permission to take the Dara, but engaged men to cut it and entertained the whole party during the few days they stayed at Jakhpur.

The wheels of the cart on which Jagannath's Dara was carried was made out of the tamarind tree which stood near the Dara at Champeshwar. The wheels were like disc wheels without spokes.

The Daras have been shaped into the four deities in secret. Perhaps it is not generally known that the Devadasi system prevails in the Puri temple. A Devadasi sings before the deities before the doors are closed for the night. While the Daras are being shaped in a closed room, the Devadasis sing outside the closed door and live as Haviyanna during that period as if they are in mourning. On 13th June, the inner contents of the deities were transferred from the old bodies into the new bodies and the old bodies were buried at a place inside the temple premises called Koili-Baikunthe. The Daitas who removed the inner contents of the old deities to the new were selected on 28th March, 1969.

Actually there were 4 deities who got new bodies. They were Jagannath, Balabhadra, Subhadra and Sudarsan. According to traditional belief the person who transfers the Brambha or the inner contents of Jagannath dies soon after performing the ceremony. Rama Chandra Pati Mohapatra, aged 76, transferred the Brambha of Lord Jagannath at the Naba-Kalebar of 1969.* The transfer of the inner contents was done in a closed and locked room with the Daita blindfolded and hands wrapped in cloth so that he could neither see nor feel what he was transferring. The selection of the 4 Daitas was made by the 28 families of Daitas in consultation with their elders. When the transfer of the inner contents was completed all the Daitapatis of Puri started a period of mourning as if a close relation had died. They observed this period of mourning for 11 days and on the 12th day 8,000 persons were fed for which contributions were received from many quarters. The food was cooked in the temple kitchen.

While the Daitas transferred the inner contents of the deities prayers (Archana) were offered by a Puri Mohapatra who is a Brahmin. All the ceremonies after the bathing festival (Snana Jatra on full-moon of Jestha which this year fell on 31st May) up-till Navakalebar (the day before the car festival, that is, on 15th July) are same. The period is called Anasar.

* It is reported, Rama Chandra Pati Mohapatra died in 1973, three years after performing the ceremony.

The next stage is covering the wood with silk. There will be several layers of silk pasted on the body and then a Chitrakar (painter) will paint it to become the deity. In other words, what is visible to the public is the painted silk which has been pasted on the wood.

CAR FESTIVAL

As in previous years the timber for building the cars came from Daspalla, an ex-princely State of Orissa which is traditionally the donor of the timber for the car festival of Puri. After the integration of the State with Orissa in 1948 the Government of Orissa honored the traditional commitment and directed the Divisional Forest Officer of Daspalla to despatch the annual requirement of timber in good time. This year the timber was floated down the Mahanadi, Kathajori, Bhargavi, and hauled 3 miles from Puri. According to the temple manager the size of the timber has been gradually getting smaller, so that it has to be supplemented by purchase from the market. The entire timber is of Sal (Shorea robusta) which remains strong and hardy even though it may crack on loss of moisture. The fact that the size of the timber is diminishing shows depletion of the Sal forest of Daspalla which needs special preservation for honouring the traditional commitment of supplying timber for Lord Jagannath's car festival.

The building of the cars started on the date of Akhaya Tritiya (on 19th of April 1969). The carpenters are hereditary Jagir holders, but on account of partition and sale of Jagirs they cannot render full free service which they did before. Now they have to be paid concessional wages of Rs. 3·25 per day per head.

The size and dimension of the cars has remained unaltered. The size of the car of Jagannath being 45' high and 45' square at wheel level. The wheels are 7' in diameter for all the cars and the number of wheels prescribed is 16 for Jagannath, 14 for Balabhadra and 12 for Subhadra which will remain unaltered this year. The covering of the cars used to be woollen previously. But for want of sufficient woollen material Markin cotton cloth is now being used. The Markin is dyed and dried before it is used on the cars. The colour of the coverings is as follows:—

Jagannath	..	Red and golden
Balabhadra	..	Red and green
Subhadra	..	Red and black

The cars of the deities have their own names. The Car of Jagannath is called Nandighosa; those of Balabhadra and Subhadra are called Taladhwaja and Devadalana respectively.

April-May

The newspapers in Odia like Samaj and others throw much light on the Nabakalebara rites of the Jagannatha Trinity in 1977. The ceremony for searching of sacred Daru began from 10th day of bright fortnight of Chaitra (March-April) which fell on 30th March in 1977. But due to some unavoidable circumstances it began from 6th April. On 6th April at 1.32 pm. The Pati Mahapatra gave three garlands (ajnamalas) to the Daitapati or Badagrahi Daita or the leader of the Daitas from lord Jagannatha, Balabhadra and Subhadra. He himself kept one garland of Lord Sudarsana. Then the Daitapatis, Pati Mahapatra, Viswakarma, Viswavasu were supplied with new clothes by Bhitaracha at Anasarapindi which is called Sadhibandhaniti. In the meantime the priest of the temple and Rajaguru used to start with Yajnas and Homas at new Darughara near Koilibaikuntha, a sacred place in the northern side of the main temple. After these functions they went to the palace of Gajapati Maharaja of Puri in a procession. There the Rajaguru brought cocoanut, unboiled rice, betelnut etc. and a piece of cloth which are known as Patani and these objects were given to Acharya and Viswakarma only. By giving these items the Gajapati requested the group of inquisitors to bring the sacred Daru to Puri with proper care for the construction of new icons. This function, Guateka was celebrated on 6th April, at 3 Pm in the palace of Gajapati. The inquisitors of sacred Daru consisting of five Brahmins, four Badagrahi Daitas, 42 Daitas, four Viswakarmas, four temple police, one Viswavasu and others started expedition with five carts. In 1977 five Brahmanas-Pandit Krishna Chandra Rajaguru, Bisweswar Mahapatra, Keshab Chandra Rajaguru, Pandit Mahadeva Mahapatra and Balarama Dash accompanied the party. The party went to Jagannatha Ballabha Matha near the Municipality market where they stayed for one and half day. There are two reasons for their stay at this matha.1- If anybody of the inquisitors group will be seriously ill, he will not return to his residence till all the sacred logs come to Puri.2- In the Matha they would prepare themselves for going to search the sacred log secretly.

The Daru inquisitors started for Kakatpur, the seat of Goddess Mangala at 2 Pm. Of 7th April. They arrived at Deuli Math, the original place of Mangala on 9th April at 4.30 pm. They began a special Majana and after that the five Brahmins worshipped the deity through Chandipatha. All these rituals were finished on 10th April at 3 pm. The search for Daru started on 11th April. The Daitas went to different directions for searching the Daru. On 19th April 1977 they got the Daru for Sudarshana at Singhasahi of Niali, Cuttack. After the completion of the rituals connected with it the sacred log arrived at Puri on 30th April with a great procession. In this process the daru of Balabhadra was collected from Adaspur Bhogeswar on the bank of the river Kandala, the Daru of Subhadra was collected from Delanga Beraboi on the bank of the river Luna from 6th May to 13th May. The sacred log of Jagannatha was collected from Rayachakradharpur, Sakhigopal from 14th May to 25th May. The sacred log of Lord Jagannatha arrived at Puri on 28th May.

June-July

The construction of images and the pratishta work began after the Daru snana or the sacred bath of the logs on 1st June to 15th June. On 15th June the newly constructed images took bath in holy water. The consecration work was completed before evening. The Daitas then took over the charge of the newly constructed images and prepared them for changing the Brahma-padartha. This ritual was performed at the midnight of the 14th day of the dark phase of ashadha, on 15th June. The burial ceremony was completed on the 27th June.

In July as reported in the newspapers there was great arrangement for the Ratha yatra of the newly constructed images. About 20 to 25 thousand pilgrims gathered at the shrine to see the Nabakalebara. There was elaboarate arrangement for sanitation and medical treatment from the side of the Government before 14th July. Yet there was mismanagement on the occasion of the Ratha yatra of 1977. According to report on 18th July ropes could not be tied up to the chariots of the deities which was due to the non-cooperation of the temple authorities and the sevayats of Puri. This led to considerable delay in the performance of the rites before the march of the chariots. The Pahandi was also deferred to 2 pm. The pilgrims suffered a lot due to extreme hot climate. The police arrangement near the Rathas was beyond satisfactory. Though there was vast concourse of pilgrims on this occasion there was confusion in the performance of the ceremony and delay in the march of the chariots.

May-June

The leading Odia newspapers from May to June 1996 presented Nabakalebara ceremony in an elaborate manner. After a long ritualistic works the sacred log of Sudarshana was collected at Panimal near Niali, Cuttack. The Vanayaga ceremony for this purpose began from March 29.The Daru of Balabhadra was collected from Ramakrishnapur in Salepur.According to the news report in the Sambad of 8th May the daru of Balabhadra on the way to Puri was struck by a car at Malatipatapur. The Daru was in tact and was worshipped by the devotees on the way. According to the news report the Daru of Subhadra was collected from Malada near Astaranga. The Daru of Jagannatha was foundout at Dadhimachha Gadia in Khurda. The Daru inquisitors reached the spot and completed the connected rituals on 7th and 8th May. The Daru was cut off on 9th May. On 17th May all the logs reached Puri. A vast concourse of pilgrims and devotees gathered at different places to have a darshan of the sacred Daru. Sushil Kumar Pradhan, S.P, maintained proper discipline in this respect. On June 1st the second phase began with Snana Purnima occasion. Arrangements were made for the construction of the new images. Elaborate steps were taken on behalf of the Government for the success of the Nabakalebara ceremony of 1996. The Samaj in its report on 26th May stated that from May 21st a committee was formed under the chairmanship of Tarunakanti Mishra, RDC, for the proper management of the situation. By 25th May arrangements were made for the collection of woods for the chariots of the deities. Measures were adopted for proper sanitation and safety of the pilgrims. Emphasis was given on good communication. Both the temple authorities and district collectorate took considerable care in the Snana Purnima occasion for the benefit of the pilgrims.

June

The news report of 3rd June stated that on 2nd June the construction of the new wooden images began with utmost secrecy. On 2nd June after the completion of the Snana jatra at about 3 am the daitapatis of the three deities after pahandi took the deity to Anasaraghara. The deities would remain in Anasaraghara for about 45 days. Yesterday the sevayats had also bathed the four darus kept in Darushala.In the coming July in the night of Krishna Chaturddasi after the encasing of Brahma in the newly made images Nabajaubana darshan would start. The news report of 12th June stated that on 15th June, in the Krishna Chaturdasi day, the Brahma Pratistha ceremony was to be done. On this day secretly the ghata or Brahma of the deities would be transferred from the old to the new in the dead of the night and the old deties would be buried in the Koili Baikuntha. This work would be completed by the Daitapatis. For this important ritual all steps would be taken by the distirct and temple administration. The news report of 17th June stated that the ritual of the transfer of Brahma from the body of the old deities to the new deities in Jagannatha Puri was conducted in the dead of the night of 15th June by the Daitapatis in utmost secrecy. On that day after the badasimhara niti all the devotees left the temple and the Daitapatis only entered the temple and the shrines of all other deities inside the temple complex were locked. The entire Puri town alongwith the temple of Jagannatha was without light as the current was off. In that dense darkness the so-called Mahaprasthanika parva was successfully conducted.

Report to C.Metcalfe, Commissioner,23rd August,1880
by Kumuda nath Mukherjee, Puri

Sir

In giving you informations day before yesterday respecting the temple and Jaggannath, I was wrong in some points, as I myself was wrongly informed about them. It is necessary. I called the Deula Karan or Record Keeper of the temple and from him I gathered the following informations which appear to be correct.

1. "Nua Kalebar" or the changing of the body of the Jagannatha.This ceremony is not restricted to the period of 12 years.It takes place in years in which a "Mala Masa" or "Do-asadhi"(as called by the Uriyas) occurs. The uriyas recken this month from the full-moon day of the month on such occasions. They say that every year giving 10 days by such calculation and thus every third year an extra month. In years in which this extra month takes place before the month of "asadha", the former is also called Asadha and it was then termed "Do-asadhi". This "do-asadhi" month generally takes place at the end of every twelfth year, but not always. This "Nua Kalebar" therefore does not take place in every twelfth year as a rule. There is mention about this "Nua kalebar"in the temple records which are called "Madla Panji", and "Niladri Mahodoy". But the Deul Karan said that as the idols are made of wood and as it decays by length of time, so the bodies are changed from time to time.

2. "Brahma". This is the thing kept within a small box which is taken out from the old body and kept in the new one at the time of "Nua Kalebar". Remains of the idol when it was put to the flames by "Kalapahar".

which often take Correct.

1. "Dua Kalebar" or the change of the body of the Jagannath. This ceremony is not restricted to the period of 12 years. It takes place in years in which a "Mala Adik" or Do-asadhi (or called by Uriyas) occurs. The Uriyas Reckon their month from the full-moon day of the month in dark occasions. They say that every year gains 10 days by such calculation and ^ every third year has an extra month. In years in which third extra month takes 43½ place before the months of "Asadha", the former is also called "Asadha". And hence the term "Dwi-asadhi"

This "Dwi-asadhi" month
generally takes place
at the end of every twelfth year, but not always.
The "Nava Kalebar" therefore does not take place
every twelfth year
as a rule. Hence no mention about the "Nava Kalebar" in the Temple Records

called "Nadia" Bairi" and "Sokadee" Jenaboday". But the Deulkaran said that as the walls are made of wood and as it decays
by length length of time, so the bodies are changed from time to time.

2. Brahma: This is the

V. Kalelkar. A portion of the wood near the wall is scraped out. A the box inserted into it and the place is then closed with small planks. No body knows what that box contains. The man who transfers it from the old to the new body is blind-folded at the time. It is said that thus the boys rescued by the Pandas out of the temple

Remains of the idol when it was sent to the flames by Kalabahu.

3. I was wrong in saying yesterday that the Raja gets from the temple about Rs 40000/-
a months from offerings
of the pilgrims.
It is the average yearly income but not monthly.
This of course is exclusive of the handsome offerings

by big pilgrims such as Maharajas and Rajas when they visit
the place from time to time.
Besides this Rs.1000/-, the Raja gets from the temple about nearly by the sale of the "Mahaprasad" (cooked & dry rice) in the temple, and which is offered by him daily from the allotted daily sum of Rs.125/-

the Red "Bhog" (offering).
There is also some miscellaneous
receipts from the rent
of the ~~Rs~~ Records &c.&c.
which amounts to
Rs 5000/- or so yearly.
The Raja gets altogether yearly Rs 8600/- Years
from the temple.
4. The Raja's daily offering of Rs 120/- was fixed when he was appointed Superintendent of the temple. Then the "Bhog" amounted to Rs
fixed

fixed quantities of rice, dal, ghee, sugar &c, & those things were valued then at Rs 125 f/- But as the same quantities of articles are daily offered now, & they cannot be reduced so the money-value of the articles has exceeded much more at present than Rs 125 f/- And the extra cost is met by the Raja from his personal incomes or from the income which he derives from the Temple.

5. The following are the ceremonies and offerings that are performed daily in the Temple.

(1) Mailo - This ceremony is performed just when the gods rise early in the morning
This consists of some perfumed liquid presented before the idols.

about 7 o'clock in the morning.

worships are performed

1902-03

Government of Bengal 1903, Judicial Department
File-P.3P/11, 31-34 of 1902
Acc. No-547 Bd Doc.

The Kalevara has not been performed for so long a time that the word has now become to be regarded as mysterious, and the police authorities of India regard it with the gravest suspicion. Confidential enquiries have been made from the central provinces and other districts in 1893 and 1901 to know what the mysterious word meant. The word is really Kalevara-Bengali and Uriya-Kalebara, meaning the body. Popularly it is known by a variety of names Kalwa-Kaliwa.

It is one of the festivals depending on certain astronomical conditions. It takes the name from the fact that on the occasion of its celebration, the neem-wood bodies of Lord Jagannatha, Subhadra and Balabhadra are renewed in entirety. The astronomical conditions are the occurrence of Do Ashari or two months Ashar in the same year, i,e., when there is an intercalary month, as when the lunar month of Ashar does not coincide with the solar month, and these are two amabasyas or two new moon days.

This is known as the Mala Mash of Asur. The popular belief is that the festival depends on the durability of the neem wood of which the figures of the gods are made.

If the festival depends on astronomical phenomena, this would account for the intervals at which it is celebrated. If the festival falls at an interval of one Yuga(12 years) or more, the bodies are entirely renewed and the old ones buried in great secrecy; but if the festival occurs more often than once in 12 years only a partial renovation is necessary, the paint is cleared off, and a limb or so removed. This is called Sri Angapita.

From the records it appears that a kalevara took place in 1855. It was attended with an accident resulting in the death of several persons. The next Kalebara was in the 18th anka of Raja Divyasimha Deva, which would be about 1874. From the confidential reports of 1893 it appears that it was expected that there would be a kalebara in 1893, but as the Raja was then a minor, his grand-mother, guardian and Mahafiz Rani Suryamani Patmahadei preferred a Sriangapitaas she was loathe to fulfil popular prediction that on the occasion of a Kalevara the carpenter, a Brahmin priest and one of the Raja`s family household must die within a year of the celebration. Last year 1900 there should have been a Kalevara according to the Bengali, but not according to the Uriya almanacs and the latter prevailed.

The Kalebara is not popular with the Raja, as it entails a very large outlay of money. The Daitas and the Daitapatis have to be supplied with funds during their journey through the Gurjats in quest of the sacred neem logs. The logs have to be brought and carried to Puri. Many Brahmins have to be entertained for the performance of the necessary Jogyans and maunds of ghee have to be burnt in ceremonial sacrifice, coarse cloth, gara, silk and satin have to be provided for the new images. The Brahmins, Daitapati, the Daitas and carpenters have all to be rewarded with presents of clothes.

333. It is one of the festivals depending on certain astronomical conditions. It takes its name from the fact that on the occasion of its celebration, the neem-wood bodies of Lord Jagannath, Subudra and Balbhadra are renewed in entirety.

334. The astronomical conditions are the occurrence of Do Ashari or two months Ashar in the same year, i.e. when there is an intercalary month, as when the lunar month of Asar does not coincide with the solar month, and there are two amabasyas or two new moon days.

335. This is known as the Kala Nath of Asar. The popular belief is that the festival depends on the durability of the neem-wood, of which the figures of the gods are made.

336. If the festival depends on astronomical phenomena, this would account for the intervals at which it is celebrated. If the festival falls at an interval of one Yuga (12 years) or more, the bodies are entirely renewed and the old ones buried in great secrecy; but if the festival occurs more often than once in 12 years, only a partial renovation is necessary, the point is sheared off, and a limb or so removed. This is called Shri anga Pita.

337. From the records it appears that a Kalevara took place in 1853, during the latter half of the lifetime of Raja Dibya Singh Deb, and was attended with an accident resulting in the death of several persons. The next Kalevara was in the 12th year of Raja Dibya Singh Deb, which would be about 1877. From the confidential records of 1903, it appears that it was expected that there would be a Kalevara in 1903, but as the Raja was then a minor, his grand-mother, guardian and Rajmata Rani Surjamani, Patmahadei preferred a Srisangpita as she was loathe to fulfil popular prediction that on the occasion of a Kalevara the carpenter, a Brahmin priest, and one of the Raja's family household must die within a year of the celebration.

Plate 91 - Mr Garrette's Report 1902

338. Last year, 1900 there should have been a Kalavare according to the Bengali, but not according to the Uriya almanacs, and the latter prevailed.

339. The Kalavare is not popular with the Rajas as it entails a very large outlay of money. The Daitas and the Daita-puti have to be supplied with funds during their journey through the Gurjats in quest of the sacred neem logs. The logs have to be brought and carried in pomp. Many Brahmins have to be entertained for the performance of the necessary homes, and images of Siva have to be burnt in ceremonial sacrifice, coarse cloth, ghee, oil and vatis have to be provided for the new images. The Brahmin-Gujtas and the Daitas, and the carpenters have all to be rewarded with presents of cloths and etc.

340. It is now necessary to know what the ordinary number of visitors in Puri is month by month.

THE FLUCTUATION OF PURI.

341. The census figures of March this year showed that the resident population was about 30,000 and on census night there were about 37,000 strangers or pilgrims in the town. In February and March this year 20,740 and 33,340 people came to Puri by rail. The chief interest of the figures lies in the small difference between the numbers visiting Puri during the important festivals and those coming during other months.

342. The figures are quoted to show that all the year through there are large crowds present in Puri, while formerly the crowds only came on a few days in the year and that corresponding police arrangements are necessary.

343. With the facilities afforded by the railway, a Pilgrim might see the largest crowd gathered in Puri that has ever been known.

A special festival is that known as the Nua kalebara (literally the new body) which takes its name from the fact that, on the occasion of its celebration, the nim-wood bodies of Jagannath, Subhadra and Balbhadra are renewed. Its celebration is said to depend on certain astronomical conditions, viz., the occurrence of two months of Asadha in the same year, i.e., when there is an intercalary month owing to the lunar month of Asadha not coinciding with the solar month. This accounts for the rarity of the festival. It was celebrated in 1853, in 1877, and in 1912. It was expected in 1893, but was not celebrated, according to one account, because of a popular tradition that the carpenter, a Brahman priest and one of the Raja's household would die within the year. There should also have been a kalebara in 1900 according to the Bengali calendar, but not according to the Oriya almanacs, and the latter were followed. The popular belief is that the festival depends on the durability of the wood of which the images are made. If the festival takes place at an interval of one yuga (twelve years) or more, the images are entirely renewed, and the old ones buried in great secrecy; but if there is a smaller interval of time, only a partial renovation is necessary.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION OF INQUIRY

Commission of Inquiry

Introduction

Background Preliminaries and Procedure

1. The temple of Lord Jagannath is well known throughout the length and breadth of India and is considered as one of the four well known pilgrim centres of the Country. The Rath Jatra is the most important of festival of the presiding Deities Lord Balabadhra, Devi Subhadra and Lord Jagannath. This festival takes place commencing on the second day of the bright fortnight in the month of Ashad every year. This is preceded by a period of 15 days commencing from the full moon day in the month of Jestha, During this period which is known as "Anabasar" certain secret, Nitis in respect of these Deities take place inside the temple. During these 15 days the public cannot have darsan of the Deities. The first Darsan of the Deities after Anabasar takes place on the Ashad Amavasya day, and this is called "Navajauvan Darsan". On the Dwithiya following this Amavasya the three Deities and Sudersan are taken out of the temple to be seated on three chariots constructed for the purpose, and the process of carrying the Deities from inside the temple on to the chariots is known as "Pahandi". After the Deities are seated in the chariots and certain other rites are performed there. to which reference will be made in due course, the Raja of Puri comes in a procession to the chariots and sweeps the floors of all the three chariots. This is known as "Chhera Pahara". The Chariots thereafter are pulled by means of heavy ropes tied to the chariots, and taken up to the Gundicha temple, situated at a distance of roughly two miles from the Jagannath temple, and this is known as the Gundicha Jatra. Every year thousands of pilgrims from inside and outside the State gather at Puri to witness this famous festival. A day after the chariots reach the Gundicha Ghar, the Deities are taken inside the Gundicha Mandir and there they remain for about a week. The return journey starts on Dasami and after the chariots come back near the Singdwar of the main temple, the Deities are taken back inside the temple on a day specified for the purpose. The entire event commencing with the Pahandi of the Deities from inside the main temple on the Gundicha day and ending with the return of the Deities into the main temple after the Bahuda Jatra is compendiously known as the Rath Jatra.

2. If the month of Ashad happens to be an inter calary month, "Nabakalebar" of the Deities takes place and the Anavasara period, which during an ordinary' year extends over a period of 15days, extends during a Nebakalebar year, over a period of 45 days commencing from the preceding Jesta Purnima, Ashad happened to be an intercalary month during the year 1931,1950 and 1959, and Nabakalebar of the Deities had been done during those years. There was some controversy as to whether Ashad would be an inter calary month during 1977. While all the almanacs of Orissa mentioned that, there would be two Ashads during 1977 and as such Nabakalebar of the Deities should be done, almanacs published in many other States indicated that the inter calary month during 1977 was not Ashad but Sravan. The Managing Committee of Shri Jagannath temple, which is the final authority to take a decision in such matters, ultimately decided to follow the indications given in the Orissa almanacs and observe Nabakalebar during the year 1977 and accordingly preparations were undertaken for the purpose. It is an established fact that during the Nabakalebar year over five to Six lakhs of people gather at Puri to witness the Rath Jatra, and a similar crowd was expected also during year 1977. Consequently, elaborate arrangements had to be made by the relevant departments of Government to provide accommoda- tion for such of the pilgrims as would require to stay, to make food stuff available to them in the town and undertake health and sanitary measures to prevent any possible outbreak of epidemics. Elaborate police arrangements had also to be made to regulate the huge crowds of pilgrims who would gather both inside the temple on the Navajauvan darsan day and outside the temple on the festival days. Adequate lighting arrangements had also to be made to provide better lighting at places where crowds were expected to gather.

3. During the year 1977 the Ashad Sukla Dwithiya fell on the 18th July and that was the day for the car festival. According to the programme drawn up by the temple administration for the Pahandi and for the various events preceding the Pahandi of the Deities, Pahandi was to commence at 9 a. m. and the Chhera Pahara was to be done at 2 p. m. The dragging of the chariot was to commence at 2.30 p. m. What actually happened was that the Pahandi did not start till about 2 p. m, and by the time Lord Jagannath's Pahandi which takes place last, was finished and the Deity was seated on the chariot. It was about 5 p. m. By the time Chhera Pahara on the Chariots was finished, it was 7-30 p. m. Consequently, the chariots could not be pulled that day, thereby causing a lot of disappointment amongst lakhs of pilgrims, who throughout the whole day were waiting in the hot sun to witness the festival. All that happened that day after Chhera Pahara was finished was to pull the chariot of Lord Balabhadra by two or three feet just to comply with the Sastric injunction.

4. Next day, on the 19th July, the pulling of the chariot of Lord Balabhadra commenced by about 10.30 a. m. and shortly thereafter six of the wheels of the chariot broke making it impossible for the chariot to move further. It was about noon that this unfortunate incident took place. Various measures were undertaken to repair the wheels, but the repairs could not be completed before 11 p,m. that night. Again the lakhs of pilgrims, who had been sorely disappointed on the previous day but who fondly hoped to see the Jatra at least on the 19th, were again disappointed. No doubt on the third day; that is, on the 20th July, the chariots were pulled and they reached their destination by evening. But by that time the majority of the pilgrims had left Puri being completely disappointed in not being able to see the Jatra for which they had come from long distances at considerable expense and trouble.

5. The aforesaid events created a lot of resentment amongst the public against the persons who were responsible for the aforesaid state of affairs. There was an outburst in the press complaining against inadequate arrangements made for the safety and convenience of the pilgrims and in regard to other arrangements undertaken for the safe conduct of the festival. In the Orissa Legislative Assembly, which was by then in session, there was a discussion about the unfortunate events at Puri, and members from both the Treasury and Opposition Benches expressed their resentment and keen sense of disappointment. It is against this background that the Government of Orissa in their Notification No 140/EC dated the 27th July, 1977, and in exercise of the powers conferred on them under Section 3 of the Commission of Enquiries Act 1952. (60 of 1952) appointed me as the Commission of Enquiry to enquire into, determine and report in respect of the matters enumerated therein. The Notification is reproduced.below :-

No. 140/EC dated Bhubaneswar, the 27th July, 1977.

Whereas there was inordinate delay in the performance of the prescribed rituals, nitis and pulling of the cars connected with the Nabakalebar Car Festival of 1977 causing considerable hardship and disappointment to the devotees of Lord Jagannath, Puri; _

Whereas it has been alleged that inadequate preparations, deficiencies in management and lack of co-ordination among the different agencies responsible for the due performance of the various functions connected with the said festival led to this state of affairs ;

And whereas the State Government are of opinion that it is necessary to appoint a Commission of Enquiry for the purpose of making an enquiry into the above matters, which are definite matters' of public importance ;

Now, therefore, the State Government in exercise of the powers conferred under section 3 of the Commission of Enquiry Act, 1952 (Act 60 of 1952), do hereby appoint a Commission of Enquiry. consisting of Sri Balakrushna Patra. Retired Judge of the Orissa 'High Court to enquire, determine and report in respect of the following matters, namely -

(a) causes and circumstances which led to the delay in the performance of the prescribed rituals and nitis including the pulling of cars connected with the Nabakalebar Car Festival of 1977 ;

(b) whether preparations for the festival were 'adequate and . whether there was any deficiency in the management or lack of co-ordination among the different agencies responsible for the· due performance of the various functions in connection with the festival:

(c) the role, conduct and responsibility of organisations, associations and similar other bodies and individuals in connection with the matters specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) above;

(d) whether the prevailing practice, procedures and systems, and the organizations and offices set up are conducive to and adequate and appropriate for the orderly, disciplined and punctual performance and observance of the different rituals, nitis and festivals of the temple of Lord Jagannath at Puri, and if not, what remedial measures by way of alteration, modification or improvement of the same should be undertaken for the due performance and observance of the rituals,nitis and festivals.

Whereas the Government are of opinion that having regard to the nature of the inquiry to be made and other circumstances of the case, provisions of sub section (2) or sub section (3) or sub section (4) or sub section (5) of section 5 of the Act should be made applicable to a Commission of Inquiry, Government direct that the aforesaid provisions shall apply to the Commission.

The Commission of Inquiry may also perform such other functions as are necessary and lor incidental to the Enquiry.

The Commission shall make its report to the State Government on or before the 30th November, 1977.

The Commission shall have its headquarters at Bhubaneswar and may also visit such places as may be necessary in furtherance of the Inquiry.

BY ORDER OF THE GOVERNOR
Sd. B. R. Patel
SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT

Time for submission of the report was subsequently extended by the State Government till 31st August, 1978.

6. In pursuance of the Notification I assumed office on the 11th August, 1977. The staff required for the functioning of the office was sanctioned on different dates between 23rd August, 1977 and 2nd September, 1977. The officer appointed as Secretary joined his duties on 26.9.77. The other staff joined in the first week of October, and it was only thereafter that the office began to function. The interval between my assumption of office and the functioning of the office staff was utilised for studying the rather complicated system of administration of the temple, the various Sebas that are being performed there and the manner of their performance. For this purpose on certain occasions I had gone to the temple to obtain first hand - knowledge of the actual performance of the various daily nitis. Meanwhile, the temple administration also made available to me information on various topics for which I had called for information. All these exercises had considerably helped me in preparing the questionnaire, and in the subsequent stages to examine and appreciate the evidence of the various witnesses who appeared before me at the enquiry.

7. The terms of reference to the Commission, extracted above, can broadly be divided into two parts. Clauses (a), (b)· and (c) thereof have reference to a specific set of events relating to the Nabakalebar car festival of the year 1977. That there was inordinate delay in the performance of the prescribed rituals, Nitis and the pulling of the chariots during the Nabakalebar car festival is assumed in the notification itself. Under clauses (a), (b) and (c) the Commission is required to enquire into and determine the causes and circumstances which led to the delay in the performance of the prescribed rituals and Nitis including the pulling of the cars; whether the preparations for the festival were adequate, whether there was any deficiency in the management or lack of co-ordination amongst the different agencies responsible for the due performance of the various functions in connection with the festival and finally the role, conduct and responsibility of the organisations, associations and similar other bodies and individuals in connection with matters referred to above.

8. The second part of the enquiry covered by clause (d) of the terms of reference is not confined to any particular event but is of a general nature. Under clause (d) the Commission is required to investigate and determine whether the prevailing practices, procedures and systems of the organisations and offices set up are conducive to and adequate and appropriate for the orderly, disciplined and punctual performance and observance of the different rituals, nitis and festivals of the temple, and if not, to suggest remedial measures by way of alteration, modification or improvement of the same to ensure due performance and observance of the rituals, nitis and festivals.

9. At this stage it would be convenient to make a brief reference to the relevant provisions of the Commission of Enquiry Act 1952 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) and to the Orissa Commission of Enquiry Rules (hereinafter referred to as the Rules). Section 2 of the Act contains certain definitions and· section 3 deals with the appointment of the Commission. Section 4 enumerates the powers of the Commission and it may be extracted.

"4. The Commission shall have the powers of a Civil Court, while trying a suit under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in respect of the following matter namely:-

(a) summoning and enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath;

(b) requiring the discovery and production of any document;

(c) receiving evidence on affidavits ;

(d) requisitioning any public record or copy thereof from any Court or office;

(e) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses or documents;
(f) any other matter which may be prescribed."

Section 5 deals with the additional powers of the Commission. Since by the Notification.powers under Sub-sections (2), (3), (4) and (5) of section 5 have been conferred on the Cornmission, it is also necessary to extract Section 5 which is as follows :-

5. (1) Where the appropriate Government is of opinion that, having regard to the nature of the enquiry to be made and other circumstances of the case, all or any of the provisions of sub section (2) or sub section (3) or sub section (4) or sub section (5) should be made applicable to a Commission the appropriate. Government may by notification in the official Gazette direct that all or such of the said provisions as may be specified in the notification shall apply to that Commission and on the issue of such a notification the said provisions shall apply accordingly.

(2) The Commission shall have power to require any person, subject to any privilege which may be claimed by that person under any law for the time being in force, to furnish information on such points or matters as, in the opinion of the Commission, may be useful for, or relevant to, the subject matter of the enquiry.

(3) The Commission or any officer, not below the rank of a gazetted officer, specially authorised in this behalf by the Commission may enter any building or place where the Commission has reason to believe that any books of account or other documents relating to the subject matter of the enquiry may be found, and may seize any such books of account or documents or take extracts or copies therefrom, subject to the provisions of section 102 and section 103 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, in so far as they may be applicable.

(4) The Commission shall be deemed to be a Civil Court and when any offence as is described in Section 175, Section 178, Section 179, Section 180 or Section 228 of the Indian Penal Code is committed in the view or presence of the Commission, the Commission may after recording the facts constituting the offence and the statement of the accused as provided for in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, forwarded the case to a Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the same and the Magistrate to whom any such case is forwarded shall proceed to hear the complaint against the accused as if the case had been forwarded to him under section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(5) Any proceeding before the Commission shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code.

Section 5-A added by the Commission of Enquiry Amendment Act of 1971 which deals with the powers of the Commission to utiIise the services of certain officers and investigating agencies for conducting investigation pertaining to the enquiry is not at present necessary for our purpose. Section 6 gives protection to persons making statements before the Commission. Section 7 provides as to when the Commission would cease to exist. Section 8 which is important provides that the Commission shall, subject to any rules made in this behalf, have power to regulate its own procedure including the fixing of places and times of its sittings and deciding whether to sit in public or in private. Section 8-B and Section 8-C which were added by the amendment Act may be quoted.

8.-B If at any stage of the inquiry, the Commission-

(a) considers it necessary to inquire into the conduct of any person, or.

(b) is of opinion that the reputation of any person is likely to be prejudicially affected by the inquiry.the Commission shall give to that person a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the enquiry and to produce evidence in his defence: Provided that nothing in this section shall apply where the credit of a witness is being impeached.

8. -C The appropriate Government, every person referred to in section 8-B and with the .permission of the Commission, any other person whose evidence is recorded by the Commission,

(a) may cross-examine a witness other than a witness produced by it or him;
(b) may address the Commission and;
(c) may be represented before the Commission by a legal Practitioner or, with the permission of the Commission, by any other person."

Section 9 affords protection to the Government; to the Commission and to the persons acting under the direction of the Government or of the Commission in respect of acts done in good faith. Section 10 provides that the Commission and every officer appointed or authorised by the Commission to exercise functions under the Act shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian penal Code. Section 10-A added by the Amendment Act prescribes penalty for acts calculated to bring the Commission or any member thereof into disrepute. Section 11 is not relevant for our purposes. Section 12 gives power to the appropriate Government to make rules to carry out the purpose of the Act.

In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 12 of the Act, the State Government made the Commission of Enquiry Rules, 1967, and the relevant provisions thereof, may be noticed. Rule 4 provides that the State Government or with the approval of the State Government, a Commission may from time to time appoint one or more assessors to assist and advise the Commission on any matter connected with the Inquiry. Rules 5 and 6 deal with the functions of the assessors and the manner of consultation with them. Rules 7 and 8, which are important may be quoted.

"7. Notice to persons for giving evidence-

(1) The Commission shall as soon as may be after its appointment:-

(a) issue of a notice to every person, who in its opinion should be given an opportunity of being heard in the enquiry to furnish to the Commission a statement relating to such matters as may be specified in the notice;

(b) Issue a notification to be published in such manner as it may deem fit, inviting all persons acquainted with the subject matter of the enquiry to furnish to the Commission a Statement relating to such matters as may be specified in the notice.

X X X X X

8. (1) The Commission shall examine all the statements furnished to it under Rule 7, and if, after such examination the Commission considers it necessary to record evidence, it shall first record the evidence, if any, produced by the State Government and may thereafter record in such order as it may deem fit;

(a) the evidence of any person who has furnished a statement under the rule 7 and whose evidence the Commission, having regard to the statement considers relevant for the purpose of the enquiry;

(b) the evidence of any other person whose evidence, in the opinion of the Commission, is relevant to the enquiry.

(2) if, after all the evidence is recorded under sub-rule (I) the State Government applies to the Commission to recall any witness already examined or to examine any new witnesses, the Commission, shall, if satisfied that it is necessary for the proper determination of any relevant fact so to do, recall such witness or examine such new witnesses.

Rule 9 (which provides that persons likely to be prejudicially affected in the inquiry are to be given hearing) corresponds to section 8-B of the Act which has already been quoted. This rule was necessary before the Act was amended in 1971, and after the amendment of the Act this rule has become redundant. Rule 10, which deals with the right of Cross-examination and representation by legal practitioner may also be quoted in full.

10. Right of cross-examination and representation by legal practitioner-The State Government, every person referred to in rule 9 and with the permission of the Commission any other person, whose evidence is recorded, under rule 8-

(a) may cross-examine a witness other than a witness produced by it or him;
(b) may address ,the Court, and;
(c) may be represented before the Commission by a legal practitioner or, with the consent of the Commission by any other person".

Rule 11 which deals with the additional powers of the Commission is again a replica of Section 5 of the Act and it provides that the Commission shall have the powers to regulate its own procedure in respect of any matter for which no provision is made in the Rules.

9. (a) The above in brief, is the scheme of the Act and the Rules made thereunder. It may be noticed that no person or persons have been mentioned in the, State Government Notification appointing the Commission as being responsible for any particular Act. In fact it is clear from the notification that there would neither be plaintiff nor defendant nor prosecutor and accused in the proceeding before the Commission which should therefore be of an inquisitorial nature where the Commission should take upon himself the duty of ascertaining facts through witnesses after giving opportunity to persons concerned, who may be affected by the determination of facts. It was therefore considered not possible at the preliminary stage to issue a notice to any person as contemplated in clause (a) of sub rule (1) of rule 7 of the Rules. I, therefore, decided that a general notification should be issued Under rule 7 (1) (b) inviting individual societies and associations and similar other persons acquainted with the subject matter of the inquiry to furnish to the Commission a Statement of facts relating to the matters specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c) and suggestions in regard to matters specified in clause (d) of paragraph 4 of the State Government notification referred to. above As clause (d) of paragraph 4 of the notification is in general terms, I considered that it would be helpful if drew the attention of the public to certain definite aspects relating to. the administration of, and the performance of the Nitis in the temple so that apart from offering their suggestions on clause (d) in any manner they deem fit, they would be enabled to offer suggestions on the definite points specified by me in the notification.

Keeping these aspects in view, 1 directed on 10.10.77 the issue of the notification, which is reproduced below :

(b) A list of witnesses whom he would like to examine in support of the statements made in the affidavit and the full particulars and correct address of such witnesses. It should also be indicated against each witness the fact or facts which the witness is expected to prove and why instead of obtaining an affidavit from the witness, his oral examination is being prayed for.

3. With regard to the matters enumerated in clause (d) of paragraph 4 of the State Government Notification referred to.above, the Commission invites from individuals, Societies, Associations and similar other persons suggestions on the various matters referred to therein. Without prejudice to the statements which individuals, Societies and Associations would like to make on such matters, the Commission invites their specific views relating to the following aspects ;

(i) Whether the different rituals, nitis and festivals of Lord Jagannath are being performed punctually, ‘and in an orderly and disciplined manner, and if not what are the factors responsible for such State of affairs ? What remedial measures do you suggest?

(ii) Whether the present constitution of the Sree Jagannath Temple Managing Committee is satisfactory and, if not, what are the changes suggested in the constitution thereof ?

(iii) Whether disciplinary powers vested in the Managing Committee are adequate and are they being exercised properly? If not, please state the reasons for the failure to exercise such powers.

(iv) Are the Sevaks or certain categories of Sevaks of the temple responsible for delay and mismanagement in the performance of the nitis of the temple ? Please furnish details.
(v) Do you think that the delay/mismanagemeat in the performance of nitis is wholly or partly due to the Sevaks taking undue advantage of their rights/privileges, recorded in the Record of Rights, and if so, what remedies do you suggest '?
(vi) Do you think that the lapses, if any, on the part of the temple administration have contributed or are likely to contribute to the delay and confusion in the performance of nitis ? If so, please give details 'and suggest remedies.
(vii) Do you think that inter se conflicts, if any, amongst different classes of Sevaks are contributing to the disorderly performance of nitis giving rise to unpleasant situations ? If so, please give details and suggest remedies.
(viii) With a view to ensuring regular and timely performance of nitis do you consider it necessary and feasible to introduce any reforms in the system of Puja and performance of nitis ? If so, please. furnish details.
(ix) Do you consider that the income of the temple is adequate to enable the temple administration to provide reasonable and necessary facilities to pilgrims visiting the temples ? Please give definite suggestions. for augmenting the income of the temple.
(x) Do you favour the abolition of the system of' 'Atika' as it exists to-day and replacing it by a 'Hundi' to be kept at a convenient place in the temple where pilgrims can put. their offering to the deities to be utilised exclusively for the purpose of the temple?
(xi) Have you any suggestions to offer for improving the systems of Pindika' ?
(xii) Please offer your comments on the following suggestions:
(a) Pilgrims wishing to have darsan of the deities in the main temple at the time of 'Sahanmela' can go up to Chandan Argali only and should not enter the Bhitar Pokharia.

(b) Pilgrims wishing to enter the Bhitar Pokharia at the time of 'Sahanmela' should pay a fee prescribed for the purpose. The amount of fee may be indicated. At times other than 'Sahanmela' and subject to the condition that it would not in any way interfere with the due performance of the prescribed nities, the pilgrims can have special darsan of the . Deities on payment of a prescribed fee. The amount of fee may be indicated.

The statements and the supporting affidavits in respect of the matters covered by clauses (a), (b) and(c) and the statements in respect of matters covered by clause (d) of Paragraph 4 of the State Government Notification referred to above should either be delivered personally on any working day between 10 a. m. and 5 p, m. at the office of the Commission on or before the 25th November, 1977 or may be sent by registered post at the following address.

By order and under the authority of the Commission.
Sd/ B. Mahapatra
Secretary to the Commission.

10. Annexure 1 referred to in paragraph J of the Notification above is the Notification dated 27th July 1977 issued by the State Government appointing the Commission, and which has already been re-produced in an earlier part of the report. Having regard to the fact that Sree Jagannath temple is an institution of All India importance and also because of the fact that for the Nabakalebar festival of 1977 lakhs of pilgrims had come to see the festival from all parts of the country, I considered that wide publicity should be given about the proposed enquiry, and hence directed publication of the notification in the following daily newspapers.

(1) The Samaj	Two Oriya dailies
(2) The Prajatantra	Published in Cuttack
(3) The Hindustan Time	Delhi edition.
(4)· The Times of India	Bombay edition
(5) The Hindu	Madras edition.
(6) The Statesman	Calcutta edition
(7) The Nai Dunia	Hindi Daily of Madhya Pradesh.
(8) The Jugantar	Bengali daily of Calcutta
(9) The Andhra Prabha	Telugu Daily of Andhra.

The notification was published in the above dailies on different dates between 19.10.77 and 24.10.77.

11. The response from the public to the notification was rather poor. Within the period prescribed, only a few statements had been received most of them relating to matters covered by clause (d) of the terms of reference. Some applications were filed complaining that the time allowed was insufficient and that they shouId be allowed further time to submit their statements.

12. On 28.11.77 I decided that before taking up the enquiry there should be a preliminary sitting of the Commission for deciding the procedure to be adopted at the enquiry and other ancillary matters, and fixed 12.12.77 for the purpose, and also directed that the applications for time should be put up on that date for necessary orders.

The fact of the sitting of the Commission on 12.12.77 was notified in the newspapers to ensure wide publicity.

13. The Commission met on 12.12.77 to settle (be procedure. I decided that the Commission shall hold its sittings either at "Bhubaneswar or Puri depending upon which place would suit better the convenience of the witnesses to be examined. The hours of work would be from 11 a.m. to I p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. One of the procedural matters required to be determined was whether the hearings of the Commission should be open to the general public. In view of the fact that the enquiry relates to one of the most important shrines in the country, and especially this year a large number of

pilgrims had come from all over the country to see the Rath Jatra and events that are alleged to have taken place, which is the subject matter of this enquiry, have naturally caused anguish and disappointment to many, I decided that the hearing should be open to the public. It was further decided to take up in the first instance the enquiry relating to the subject matters covered by clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the terms of references, and thereafter the .subject matter relating to the matters contained in clause (d). I further decided that affidavits in respect of matters covered by clauses (a), (b) and (c) and statements in respect of matters covered by clause (d) shall ordinarily serve as evidence, but wherever the Commission feels that a person, who had submitted an affidavit or statement, as the case may be should also be examined in court, it would be open to the Commission to do so. If the Commission feels that the examination of any person, who has not submitted any statement or affidavit, is necessary for a proper determination of the matters set down for enquiry, it shall be open to the Commission to examine such a person or persons. It shall also be open to the Commission to recall any person already examined and examine him, either on matters already deposed or in respect of some new matters. Whenever any person is examined in court with regard to any of the matters covered by (a), (b), (C) and (d) of the terms 'of reference, any other person effected, or likely to be affected by such statement, will be given an opportunity to cross examine such witness. In any event, nothing would preclude the Commission from putting to witnesses such questions as it would deem fit with a view to obtaining further information and clarification in respect of matter stated by him. Liberty was given to persons interested in the enquiry and who intend to file affidavits or statements in connection therewith to inspect the affidavits, statements and documents alrealy filed before the Commission and to take down notes. The Commission reserved the right to prescribe in future further procedure if and when such prescription became necessary.

14. In respect of the applications for further extension of time, which had been filed before the Commission, I thought that the time already allowed namely, full one month since the time of the publication of the notifications in the newspaper was quite adequate. But since several persons made applications for extension of time and remembering at the same time that the Commission should take up the enquiry as expeditiously as possible, I felt that it would serve both the purposes if I fixed the commencement of the enquiry to 2nd January, 1978 on the basis of affidavits and statements already received and extended the time for submission of statements and affidavits by the public, till the 31st December, 1977, and I ordered accordingly.

The enquiry before the Commission commenced on the 2nd January, 1978 in the presence of Shri D. N. Dash, Advocate, appearing for Sree Jagannath Temple and Sri B. K. Bose, Advocate, appearing for the State. Two days later Sri N. K. Mahanti, Advocate filed his memo of appearance on behalf of Sri B. B. Parida, who was the Collector of Puri during the Nabakalebar festival. At a subsequent stage he also filed his memo of appearance On behalf of Sri S. K. Chatterji, who was the Superintendent of Police at the time of the Nabakalebar festival. On 19.1.78 Sri Bamdeb Mishra, Advocate, Puri, who meanwhile had been appointed as the Advocate to assist the Commission, filed his memo of appearance.

15. It may be stated at this stage that shortly after I assumed office as the Commission of Enquiry, it came to my notice that the three chariots of the last Rath Jatra were being dismantled. I found that the super structure of Tala Dwaja Rath of Lord Balabhadra had already been dismantled, but that the lower portion was intact. This is the chariot, the wheels of which are alleged to have broken on the 19th July, 1977, rendering the further dragging of that chariot that day impossible. As I considered that for a proper appreciation of the evidence relating to the pulling of the Tala Dwaja Rath and the circumstances culminating in the breakage of the wheels, it is essential that the chariot, and, at any rate, the base of the chariot should be preserved till the enquiry relating to the breakage of the wheels is completed, I issued a direction to the Administrator of Sri Jagannath Temple that the Tala Dwaja Rath should not be further dismantled. As a matter of abundant precaution, I further directed that the Nandighosha or Rath of Lord Jagannath, which in many respects is a replica of the Tala Dwaja Rath, should also be preserved, as it was. As the presence of these chariots on the Bada Danda in front of the Sri Jagannath temple was undoubtedly causing some inconvenience to the regulation of traffic at that spot, I directed on 3rd January 1978, that to start with, the enquiry would relate to the incidents of 19th July 1977 relating to the breakage of the wheels of Tala Dwaja Rath. For this purpose a local inspection of the base structure of the Tala Dwaja Rath was fixed for 4.1. 78. The local inspection was held between 10-30 a. m. and 1-30 p. m. on the 4th January in the presence of the Advocate the Administrator, the Assistant Administrator, the S. D.O., R & B, Puri, the Car Supervisor, the Works Supervisor, the Rath Bhois and others. A note of the local inspection had been prepared and is appended to this report. I also got prepared a plan showing the course the Tala Dwaja Rath had taken on the 19th July 1977 and also a sketch showing the position of the several wheels of that chariot. A separate sketch of a wheel of the chariot was also prepared showing the various parts thereof. These three documents are appended as annexures I, II and III respectively to this report.

16. It may be incidentally mentioned that although Sri S. K. Chatterji, who was the Superintendent of Police, Puri, during the time of the Nabakalebar festival, had not filed any affidavit or statement in this enquiry, as he happened to be the officer-in-chage of the pulling of (the Tala Dwaja Rath, he was summoned as a witness to depose before the Commission. Before he appeared in court, however a few other witnesses had been examined, who had deposed about the incident relating to the breakage of the wheels on the 19th July. After the conclusion of Sri Chattarji's evidence an application was filed on his behalf by his advocate, Sri N.K. Mahanti requesting that Sri Braja

Mohan Patnaik, car supervisor (C.W. 2), Sri Harihar Mahapatra, Works Supervisor, (C.W. 3), Sri J. N. Khuntia, Assistant Administrator (C.W. 4), Sri Natabar Bhoi, a Rath Bhoi (C.W. 5) and Sri Ganeswar Praharaj, Additional District Magistrate, (C.W.7) should be recalled for being cross examined, by the ex-Superintendant of Police, Sri Chatterji. This prayer was allowed and the aforesaid five witnesses were summoned and allowed to be cross examined by Sri Chatterji.

17. As indicated already, the enquiry proper commenced on 2. 1. 1978, and the evidence, in the first instance, was recorded in respect of matters covered by clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the terms of reference. With the examination of the 38th witness on 6.4.78, this part of the enquiry practically came to a close excepting for two more witnesses, who were subsequently examined. The enquiry in respect of matters covered by clause (d) commenced in the first week of April, 1978 in the second week of August 1978. Some of the witnesses, who had earlier deposed on matters relating to clauses (a), (b) and (c) were recalled for being examined on matters relating to clause (d). In all 69 witnesses were examined in this enquiry and their evidence runs to 829 pages. Documents were admitted in evidence. Besides the documents formally admitted in evidence, I had occasion while dealing.with matters enumerated in clause (d) in the terms of reference to call for and peruse several other records available in the temple office relating to disputes between the administration on the one hand and sevaks on the other and between some sevaks inter se.

PART I
Relating to Matters Enumerated in Clauses (a), (b) and (c) of The State Government Notification

CHAPTER I

WAS OBSERVANCE OF NABAKALEBAR IN 1977 PROPER?

1. It had been indicated previously that there was some controversy as to whether there should or should not be Nabakalebar of the deities during the year 1977. In other words, the controversy centred round the question whether during 1977 Asadha would be an inter calary month. The practice in Sree Jagannath temple is to follow the Samanta Chandra Sekhar Panjika published by the Kohinoor press in respect of the observance of the various festivals during the year. It is an admitted fact that not only the Samanta Chandra Sekhar Panjika published by the Kohinoor press but also all other Panjikas published in Orissa were unanimously of the view that there would he mala Ashad in the year 1977, and consequently Gundicha Jatra, which, but not the fact that Ashad would be a mala masa would have taken place on the 18th' June would, on that account took place on the 18th July. It seems that in certain other Panjikas published outside Orissa it was indicated that the Rath Jatra would take place on the 18th June. Hence in a letter (Ex. 28) the Proprietor of the Gupta Press Panjika, Calcutta, wrote to the Administrator of the temple informing him that according to their calculation also the Rath Jatra was to be held on the 18th July' and Bahuda Jatra on'the 26th July 1977, but that a minority group Panjikas were of the view that the Jatra would be held in the month of June, and seeking clarification from the Administrator as to on which day they were deciding to have the Jatra. On receipt of this query, the Administrator consulted the Mukti Mandap Sabha, and the latter agreeing with the views of the Gupta Press opined that in 1977 there will be Ashad mala masa and that consequently the Gundicha Jatra should be held on the 18th July, 1977. It was indicated in their reply Ex. 29 and 29A that they had furnished the view after discussion with Swamy Chinmayanandji.(C. W. 14), but it seems Chinmayanandji was personally of the view that during 1971 the inter calary month would not be Ashadha but Sravan. The Administrator then made a reference to the Indian meteorological observatory to find out their views in the matter; and the telegraphic reply Ex. 30 received from them was to the effect that there would be two Sravans but not two Ashadha in the year 1977. This controversy was discussed at a meeting of the Managing Committee which authorised the Administrator to convene a meeting of some selected Pandits and decide the issue. A list of five Pandits was obtained from Chinmayanandji, five Pandits were named by the Mukthi Mandap Pandit Sabha and the Managing Committee furnished a list of five more Pandits. A meeting of these 15 Pandits was convened at Puri. The meeting was also attended by the members of the Managing Committee, Two different views were expressed at the meeting. some being of the opinion that there would be two Ashads and some favouring the view that there would be two Sravans. The latter viewpoint was exposed and elaborated by Swamy Chinmayanandji (C. W. 14) who was examined before me in this enquiry. According to him there are three categories of Panjikas in India.

(1) The Gupta Press Panjika of Calcutta and the Panjika of Andhra, Karnataka and Uttar Pradesh. Their calculations seem to be based on tables which are 386 years old on the Uapakarnas of Surya Sidhanta.

(2) The Kohinoor Press Panjika and the Aruno-Udaya Press Panjika of Orissa where the calculations are based on the calculations which had been made by Samanta Chandra Sekhar Sidhanta Siromani.

(3) Panjikas like Bisudha Sidhanta Panjikas of Bengal, Indian Ephemeres and Nautical Almanacs published by-the Central Government and Rastriya Panjikas in twelve languages published by the Government of India and about 200 smaller Panjikas published in West Bengal, Banaras, Haryana, the Punjab, Rajastan, Bombay, Gujarat, Saurastra, Tamil Nadu, Andhra, Karnataka and Assam. It seems that the calculations in this category of Panchangams known as Druk Sishi tallied with one another.

2. In the opinion of Swamy Chinmayanandji the first category of Panjikas, being based on old calculations, are not acceptable and that, in any case Orissa does not follow the first category of Panjikas. According to him the Kohinoor and the Aruno Udaya Press Panjikas of Orissa, which are based on calculations made by Samanta Chandra Sekhar about 100 years ago are defective, because the calculations made such a long time ago have not been brought up-to-date in the light of the latest astronomical discoveries. It seems the third category of Panjikas are based on the calculations made by Bisudha Sidhanta Panjika, which was started 89 years ago by Sri Madhab Chandra Chattopadhyay, a disciple of Samanta Chandra Sekhar. Although the calculations there are essentially based on the calculations made by Samanta Chandra Sekhar, they have the merit of taking into consideration the latest astronoimical discoveries, and consequently, in the opinion of Swamyji, the calculations made by the third category of Panchangams should be most acceptable, .and this category of Panchangams indicated that during 1977 the mala masa would be Sravan but not Ashad and consequently the Rath Jatra ought to have been performed on the- 18th June and the return car festival on the 26th June, 1977. Mala masa occurs when two Arnavasyas fall between two consecutive Sankranthis. There is no controversy that Amavasya fell after Sankranthi in the month of June. There is also no controversy that Amavasya in the month of July ended at 2-14' p.m. on 16.7.77. The controversy is essentially as to when Sankranthi in the month of July took place. According to the almanacs of Orissa Sankranthi took place at 28.38 Dandas corresponding to 4.55 p. m. on the 16th July 1977. According to Bisudha Sidhanta Panjika, which Swamy Chinmayanandji favours, Sankranthi took place On 16th July, 1977 at 10.18 a. m, Swamy Chinmayanandji's view is that as Sankranti on the 16th July had taken place at 10-,18 a. m, and Amavasya was ending thereafter at 2-14 p. m. two consecutive Sankrantis of June and July would not comprise within that period of two Amavasyas and consequently there would be no mala Ashadh. But according to the Orissa Panjikas as Karkat Sankranthi was taking place at 4.54 p. m. a few hours after Amavasya came to an end there would be two Amavasyas between two consecutive Sankranthis and consequently the mala masa would be Ashadh.

3. Both these conflicting views were before the Managing Committee. Two important considerations weighed with the Committee to decide that Nabakalebar should be observed in the year 1977. The Samanta Chandra Sekhar Panjika published by the Kohinoor Press, which is being scrupulously followed in all matters relating to observance of nitis in the temple, had provided for Nabakalebar in the year 1977. Secondly, if Nabakalebar was not performed in 1977, the next Nabakalebar would occur only in 1996, and it was apprehended that the then existing idols might not last till 1996. These are certainly weighty considerations. When, as admitted by Swamy Chinmayanandji there are three broad categories of Panjikas prevalent in India variations on certain particulars as amongst these three groups are bound to be there. It is only natural that the calculations made in a particular Panjika must hold good for the region where it is prevalent. It is, therefore, natural that the temple Managing Committee had decided to follow the calculations and indications given in the Samanta Chandra Sekhar Panjika published by the Kohinoor Press, which is being followed in the temple in the determination of all nitis and festivals. It was not a snap decision which the Committee took. When it was brought to its notice that there was some controversy regarding the observance of Nabakalebar in 1977, it was careful to have a very thorough discussion in the matter with several pundits and the decision was taken thereafter. Apart from the fact that the Samanta Chandra Sekhar Panjika favoured the view which ultimately the Committee took,it was also rightly influenced in its decision by the fact that the then existing idols might not last till the next Nabkalebar.

4. The above decision was taken by the Managing Committee on the 4th February, 1917 and on 6.4.77 the Daitapatis left Puri in search of Daru.,

5. Thereafter a certain event took place which created doubts in the minds of the public whether the decision previously taken by the Managing Committee to observe Nabakalebar during 1977 was at all a correct one, and this event related to the solar eclipse, which took place on 18.4.77. TheSamanta Panjika published in the Kohinoor Press, which is followed in the Sri Jagannath temple and one or two other Panjikas published in Orissa, indicated that the eclipse would not be visible in Orissa. One or two other Panjikas published in Orissa indicated that the eclipse would be visible in Orissa. In view of the indication given in the Samanta Panjika published in the Kohinoor press, the temple management had decided not to observe the eclipse in the temple. But actually on 18.4. 1977 it was found that the eclipse was visible in Orissa and also in Puri. Immediately thereafter the necessary rituals were observed iathe temple. This naturally created doubts in the minds of some people as to whether the decision of the Managing Committee to observe Nabakalebar, based as it was on the calculation made in the Samanta Panjika of Kohinoor press, was not equally erroneous. An urgent meeting of the Managing Committee was convened on 22.4,77 (Ex. 33) to consider this issue. Certain pundits of Puri, representatives of the sevaks and the Law Secretary amongst others, were present by invitation at the meeting. The matter was thoroughly discussed, and it was, inter alia, pointed out that so far as Nabakalebar was concerned, all the Panjikas published in Orissa were unanimously of the view that Nabakalebar should be observed during 1977 and therefore, whatever might be said about the observance of the Solar Eclipse regarding which there was no unanimity even amongst the Orissa Panjikars, the decision taken regarding Nabakalebar by the Managing Committee was the correct one. It was incidentally pointed out that as the process for observing Nabakalebar had already started with the Daitapatis leaving the temple in search of Daru, there was no question of going back on the decision. On this issue there was also a little furore in the press so much that in one of the articles appearing in a local daily it was said, “Jianta Dianku pothidele” (Live Deities had been buried), indicating thereby that there was a premature burial of the old idols. But taking a total view of all the circumstances detailed above, the conclusion is irresistible that the decision of the Managing Committee to observe Nabakalebar in 1977 was neither hasty nor unreasonable.

CHAPTER II

PROCEDURE AND CUSTOMS TO BE OBSERVED DURING NABAKALEBAR

6. I would next deal with the causes and circumstances which led to delay in the performance of the prescribed rituals and nitis, which culminated in the fact that on the Sri Gundicha day, 18th July 1977, the chariots could not be dragged as they should have been. To appreciate the mass of evidence collected on this point, it is necessary to have a clear idea of the various rituals prescribed for the observance of Nabakalebar. As mentioned ealier, during an ordinary year a period of fifteen days only is observed as anabasar period commencing from the Jyesta Purnima, otherwise known as Snan Purnima. On that day the deities are brought in Pahandi from the Ratna Singhasana inside the temple on to the Snan Bedi where the deities are bathed with holy water in a ceremonial manner. It may be incidentally mentioned that tbis is the only day in the year when the deities are actually bathed in the sense that holy water is poured over the idols. On the other days of the year the bathing of the deities, known as Abakash, means only Mantra Snan. Water is not actually poured over the idols but poured over a brass mirror placed in front of each Deity. After the deities are duly bathed on the Snan Mandap and after certain other rituals are observed, the idols are taken back inside the temple and placed not on the Ratna Bedi as before but in the: Anasara Pindi situated just behind the Chandan (Argali). A bamboo screen is then placed alongside the Chandan Argali so that the idols would not be visible to the public. On the other side of the bamboo screen are placed the Dosabotar Thakura brought from the Dhakinaghar and three painting of the three Deities Lord Balabhadra, Devi Subhadra and Lord Jagannath and all the prescribed daily nitis are performed before these Bije Prathimas, otherwise known as "Tati Dians". During these fifteen days of anabasar period certain nitis, which are considered secret, are done in respect of the main idols in the Anasarghar, and these nitis are performed exclusively by a sect of sevaks called Daitapatis, During anabasar, the Pati Mahapatra, who is the priest of the daitas, has certain functions to perform before the idols and towards the close of the anabasar period the Data Mahapatra also comes in to do the painting of the faces of the deities, a ritual known as Banak Lagi. Excepting the sevaks above mentioned, no other group of sevaks and no other functionary of the temple including the Administrator, has access into the anasaraghar, Although by tradition certain items or work relating to the idols have to be done on certain prescribed days during the anabasar period, it is not possible for the administration to keep a watch on the progress of the work there excepting getting an idea thereof through requisitions made from time to lime by Daitapatis of the articles required for the prescribed nitis and also by such oral accounts given by the Daitapatis themselves of the progress made inside the anasaraghar.

7. There are two entrances through which one can go to the sanctum sanctorum of the temple. One is through the Jaya Bijaya Dwar situated in between the Jagmohan and the Bahar Gambhira of the temple. That is the main entrance, and at the end of every day's nitis the door is locked and duly sealed in the presence of several functionaries of the temple. Again in the presence of these functionaries the seals are broken the next day. The other entrance through which entry is affected is situated on the southern side and is known as Bhithar Dakhinadwar. It is also known as Beharanadwar. A person entering through this way directly comes near the Chandan Argali. Along the Chandan Argali and at the southern extremity there is a small passage with a gate, and it is known as Dhukudidwar. Every person who comes to the Bahar Gambhira, be it through the Jaya Bijaya Dwar or through the Dakinadwar, has to pass through this Dhukudidwar to go into the sanctum sanctorum. Before, however, doing so he has to pass through a space situated just in front of the Bhithar Gambhira, which is known as the anasara pindi. It is after one crosses the anasara pindi that he goes into the Bhithar Gambhira where we have the Ratna Singasan on which the deities are normally seated.

8. It has already been said that during the anabasara period the daily prescribed nitis of the deities are performed before the Tati Dians placed in front of the bamboo screen. It is an established custom that so long as any niti is being performed before the Tati Dians, no work in connection with the idols placed in the anabasargarh can take place. In other words Daitapati should come out of the anabasara garh before performance of any nitis before the Tati Dians. It is also the rule that on no day during the anabasara period, excepting on the Dwadasi preceding Gundicha, the Daitapatis can enter the anabasara garh prior to Madhyan Dhup before the Tati Dians, When these are the established rules, traditions and customs, it is quite apparent that unless there is close co-operation between those sevaks, who are engaged in the observance of daily nitis before the Tati Dians on the one hand, and the Daitapatis who are engaged in the performance of certain works and rituals in connection with the idols inside the anabasara garh on the other, there cannot be satisfactory progress on either side. Undoubtedly, the responsibility to ensure such co-operation must rest on the temple administration.

CHAPTER III
RITUALS FOR NABAKALEBAR

9. The first step taken in connection with the observance of rituals during a Nabakalebar year is the procurement of "Daru". For this purpose a party consisting of certain Daitapatis, Pati Mahapatra, Bitarchu Mabapatra, Deula Karan and certain others set out in search of Daru, It is unnecessary for the purpose of this enquiry to refer to the elaborate rituals and the procedure followed for locating the neem trees, which are felled and the timber subsequently ceremonially brought to the temple for the making of the Idols. During the year 1977, the Daru was brought to the temple as required by tradition before the Snan Purnima.

10. During a Nabakalebar year the Anabasara period extends over a period of 45 days commencing from and including Snan Purnima. To distinguish this from the usual Anabasara, which extends over a period of 15 days only, the Anabasara period during a Nabakalebar year is also known as Maha Anabasara. The Maha Anabasara period can be broadly divided in to three parts. During the first fifteen days "Murthi Nirman" is done in Koili Baikuntha. During the four days following Snan,Purnima Ankuraropana is done and the actual construction of the idols from out of the Daru starts from the fifth day. This part of the work was duly completed by Chathurdasi (15.6.77) and the newly prepared wooden idols were taken to the anabasara garh inside the temple on the night of the 15th June, 1977 . That very night the transfer of "Brahma" from inside the old Bigrahas to inside the new Bigrahas took place, and the old idols were then taken to Koili Baikuntha for being buried. It may be incidentally mentioned that it is only during a Nabakalebar year that new idols are made to replace the old ones, and the new idols are sanctified by the transfer of Brahma from the old idols to the new whereafter the old idols are ceremonially taken to Koili Baikuntha, which is said to be the burial ground of the Thakurs. There is no dispute that this part of the work was done in time and according to the prescribed rituals, which as already stated, are of a secret nature.

11. During the first fifteen days of Maha Anabasara the several wrappings of silk and cotton cloth of the old deities are removed in the anasara garh so much so tbat by the time the new idols are brought into the anasara garh on the night of Chathurdasi, what would rem-ain of the old deities would be the bare wooden idols. The pieces of silk and other cloths removed from the old deities are taken away by the Daitapatis. These are prize possessions, and they distribute the same amongst their Jajmans and they are handsomely, paid for it.

12. The Second period of fifteen days is devoted to what is called "Sri Murthy Gathan", which means that the required pieces of cloth, silk, rexin, etc., are applied to the wooden idols to bring them to the required shape and form. All materials necessary for this purpose are provided by the temple administration, and there is no dispute that these have been provided, and we have the evidence of the several daitapatis examined in this enquiry that this part of the work was completed in time and as per schedule.

13. The third and last fortnight of Maha Anabasara commences from mala Ashad Purnima and ends with the following Amavasya, which. in the year 1977, was cofined to the period from the 1st to 15th July. It is in evidence that the several works done and nitis performed in respect of the new idols during this period, more or less, correspond to the work done and nitis performed, before the idols during the anabasara period of an ordinary year. It is only during this period in 1977, and especially during the second part of this period, that delays and irregularities in the performance of the several nitis are alleged to have taken place. The particular items of work that have to be done during this period are as follows :-

Panchami : Phuluri Lagi, which means gingili oil mixed with "chuan" and camphor has to be applied to all the four idols.

Dasami: Choka Bije - The new idols after being brought from Koili Baikuntha are placed on the floor of the anasara garh. It is on Dasami that the idols are placed on three cylindrical stone pieces called "choka", and this function is called Choka Bije.

Ekadasi : This is also called Chandan Lagi Ekadasi. On this day Khali is first applied to the deities and, after the Sandhya Dhup before the Dasavatar Thakura is performed and not before tbat event, a large quantity of thick sandal paste mixed with camphor and certain other materials is applied over the bodies of the idols.

Dwadasi : Raj Prasad is to be taken to the Raja's palace. After the Bhog Mandap on that day as many silver trays as there are members in the Raj family are taken out of the bhandar and supplied to the Daitapatis. On each thali a silk cloth is spread. These are taken inside the anasara garh where the Daitapatis place the Raj prasad, chandan and Koralo chandan taken from the bodies of the deities are placed in the thalis and they are ceremonially taken to the accompaniment of ghanta and kahali to the Raja's palace. In return the Raja gives "Sadhi" to the Daitapatis, Pati Mahapatra, Swayi Mahapatra, Deulo Karan and Thalichu Mahapatra who accornpany the Daitas. After· returning from the palace the Daitapatis are expected to undertake preparations for Ghana Lagi, which is to take place on the following day.

Trayodasi (14.7.77) : It is a very important day and a lot of work is done in respect of the new idols. The first is Ghana Lagi, For this purpose thick silk ropes are wound round the deities. The silk required for this purpose is of a special quality and design and the silk clothes supplied for the purpose are processed into ropes. To expedite this work on Trayodasi it is necessary that the preparations are undertaken on the night of Dwadasi. It is done after the Daitas return from the palace after delivery of Raj prasad. After that Ghana Lagi, Khali Lagi and Khadi Lagi are done. Khali prasad is brought from the house of Sudha Suar in procession to the accompaniment of Ghanta and Kahali. After finishing Bhog Mandap that day Khadi prasad is brought from the house of Datta Mahapatra in a similar procession. After Kbadi is applied to the deities Khadi prasad is taken to the Rajabati to be delivered to the Raj family in the same manner as is done in respect of Raj prasad on the Dwadasi day.

Chathurdasi (15.7.78).: On this day after the Bada Singhar Dhup before the Dasavatar deities is over the Datta Mahapatra does what is called Banak Lagi otherwise known as "Mukha Singhar" which means the painting of the faces of the deities in different colours. Thereaftar Choka Appasara takes place, which means that thick quilts are placed at the back of each Deity and the deities are kept in a slightly reclining position.

14. After the above items of work are completed on the Chadhurdasi day, by which time it is normally the dawn of Amavasya, Mangala Alathi is offered simultaneously to the Dasavatar deities on the front side of the bamboo screen and to the newly consecrated deities in the anabasara garh behind the bamboo screen, and thereafter the Dasavatar Thakurs are removed to the Dhakinadwar. The bamboo screen is then removed and the new deities are, for the first time, exposed for darsan to the public, and this is called Navajauban darsan. The above, in brief, is the schedule to be observed during the last days of Maha anabasara, I will now proceed to discuss whether, and if not, to what extent, the schedule has been adhered to.

CHAPTER XI

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS RELATING TO THE CAUSES FOR DELAY IN PERFORMANCE OF PAHANDI AND THE RESULTING FAILURE TO PULL THE CHARIOTS ON 18TH JULY

44. I have detailed in the preceding chapters the causes and circumstances which led to the delay in the performance of the prescribed rituals and nitis, which ultimately resulted in the failure to pull the cars on the 18th July 1977. This covers a part of the terms of reference contained in clause (a) of the State Government's notification. I am not at present dealing with the fact that on most of the days of the year all the nitis and rituals prescribed for the day had not been completed. This aspect will be dealt with by me while idealing with clause (d) of the terms of reference. I am confining myself at this stage only to the causes and circumstances, which have a direct bearing on the delay in the performance of pahandi, and the resulting failure to pull the chariot on the 18th July. These are enumerated below :-

(a) The delay started on Chandan Lagi Ekadasi (12.7.77). The palia Puja Pandas for the day are entirely responsible for the delay in performing Surya Puja at the time of the sokal dhup, and it is on account of this delay that Sarvanga Chandan Lagi scheduled for the day could not be done;

(b) for the delay, which occurred on Dwadasi (13.7.77), again the palia Puja Pandas are responsible.

(c) the delay in the performance of nitis on Trayodasi was due to the unusually long time taken by the Daitapatis inside the anabasar ghar to perform the necessary rituals there, as a result of which Khadi Lagi, which was prescribed to be done that day could not be done;

(d) failure to finish the items of work which remained to be done in the anabasar ghar on the Chathurdasi day was mainly due to the delay committed by Pati Mahapatra and to some extent by the Daitapatis;

(e) the delay in the performance of nitis caused on Amavasya, 16th July, and Pratipada, 17th July was due to the fact that darsan was allowed to the pu blic on both these days.

45. The Managing committee, first took the decision on 3.7.77 (Ex.27) to allow paramanik darsan on both the days, and drew up the original programme (Ex. 13) accordingly. It is this decision which gave rise to the agitation to also have free darsan. The administration's justification to provide for paramanik darsan on both the days was that such darsan had been allowed during the Nabakalebar of 1969. A perusal of the daily diary of the temple relating to 14.7.69, Ex.58, shows that such darsan was allowed between the hours 2.30 a.m. on the night of 14.7.69 till 8.30 a.m. on 15.7.69. But it is conveniently overlooked that on 14.7.69 this darsan commenced after all the daily nitis of the day were over and the darsan was stopped at 8.30 a.m. on 15.7.69, that is, the day preceding pahandi, so much so that all the nitis of the day including Pahuda could be finished, and Senapata Lagi could be commenced at 2 a.m. and finished by 5 a.m. But during last Nabakalebar both on the 16th and I 7th July 1977 darsan had been provided for in the midst of daily nitis of the day. I am, therefore, in complete agreement with the Statement made by the Collector (C.W.9) that the one single factor, which contributed mostly for the delay in the pahandi on the 18th, was the decision to allow darsan on the evening of the 16th and 17th. Had this not been done, the delay in the performance of other nitis on the day preceding Gundicha at least could not have been reflected on the nitis of the 18th, and there would have been no delay in starting pahandi as programmed.

46. If due to the pressure from the daitapatis and incidentally to earn some extra income for the temple, the administration had decided to allow darsan, it should have been confined only to the 16th instead of spreading it over 16th and 17th. Had they done, so, they could have on 17th July saved precious six hours which had been occupied by the darsan.

47. The record of rights no where provides for free Navajauban darsan. It provides only for paramanik darsan at that time. Paramanik darsan is not a new concept, but is provided for on several occasions even during an ordinary day. No body has ever taken any exception to such a provision on the ground that there is an element of discrimination involved in it. These are in the nature of regulatory measures and no exception can be taken to it. Even if, Navajauban darsan is allowed free the rush would be so great that it would be futile to expect that every pilgrim, who wishes to have darsan, would get an opportunity to do so. When the deities are brought to the chariots, it would be open to everybody to have darsan of the Deity. I, therefore, feel that free Navajauban darsan, apart from being not provided for in the record of rights, would, if allowed, considerably delay the pahandi and the pulling of the chariots, thereby causing disappointment to the thousands of pilgrims, who specially go to Puri to witness the Rath Jatra,

As detailed in the preceding chapters, delay in the performance of nitis had occurred on each day commencing from Ekadasi (12.7.77) and the cause for the same has also been.indicated. But these delays would not have had any effect on the commencement of Pahandi on the 18th July if Senapata lagi could have been finished at the latest by dawn on the 18th. The two factors which delayed the work relating to Senapata was the provision for darsan on the 17th July and the conduct of the Suaro who contrary to assurances given by them to the Administrator, offered a very large quantity of Abhada in the Sandhya Dhup on 17th, with the result that clearance of Abhada from the gambhira occupied an unusually long time. Even the darsan allowed on the 16th would not have delayed senapata work on the 17th if no darsan would have been provided for on the 17th. Regarding darsan, therefore, I would recommend that-

(a) the Record of Rights provides only for paramanik darsan on the Navjauvan day, and, consequently, there should be no free darsan.

(b) If, however, Navjauban falls immediately preceding the Rath Jatra, even such paramanik darsan should not be allowed to continue beyond 9 a.m. that day thereby leaving sufficient time for the performance of the various daily nitis prescribed for the day.

Regarding offering of Bikri and Baradi Abhada by Suaro at this time of Sandhya Dhup and other main Dhup would make appropriate recommendations on part II of this report. Anabasar nitis are, no doubt, considered to be secret in the sense that these are done behind the bomboo tati unseen not only by the public but also by the sevaks other than Daitapatis. Pati Mahapatra and a few other sevaks, who take part in the anabasar nitis, But the main items of work done in anabasar ghar during that period are well known and find mention in the Record of Rights. To exercise proper control and to ensure that these broad items of work are done on the days prescribed for the purpose, a duty should' be cast on the Badagrahis of the three deities to report in writing at the end of the day to the Administrator whether or not the items of work prescribed to be done on a particular day commencing from Chandan Lagi Ekadasi, have been done or not, and if not done, the reasons therefor. It this is done, the situation such as those which arose during the last Nabakalebar are not likely to arise:

CHAPTER XL

SUMMARY OF RECOMMENDATIONS

257. The practice of the Charcha staff going to call the Sevaks on their Pali day should be stopped. It should be sufficient if the intimation to the concerned Palia Sevaks is given on the day preceding. (Chapter XXIV) ..

258 .. Suars should be prevented from offering any Baradi or Bikri Bhog at the time of the four main Dhups. To ensure tbis, the Merda Roso should be commissioned and utilised for preparation of Kotha Bhog. A collapsible gate should be fixed at a convenient place in the Bhog Bata and that should remain closed throughout, and be opened just before the prescribed time for Bhog Mandap Puja, (Chapter XXV).

259. As many extra Bhog Mandaps are absolutely necessary should be arranged on payment of extra fee for the purpose (Chapter XXV).

260. A Temple Official should physically distribute: khei amongst Palia Sevaks. The system of the Pasarathias taking the Khei of the various Palia Sevaks directly from inside the Bhittar Pokharia should be stopped. (Chapter XXVI).

261. By arrangement with the various Palia Sevaks, the Temple Administration should purchase the Khei of the Sevaks and pay them the price thereof in cash. (Chapter XXVI).

262. The Temple Administration should resume possession of the Chulis and lease them out every year by public auction to such Sadhibandha Suars as would be willing to take them on annual lease. (Chapter XXVII). .

263. After proper discussion with the representative of the Suar Nijog and taking into consideration the current prices of foodstuff and other relevant factors, the Temple Administration should fix the maximum selling prices of Abhada and other commodities exposed for sale in the Ananda Bazar. There should be periodical revision of such rates. (Chapter XXVII).

264. A responsible Officer of the Administration not below the rank of Assistant Administrator should be present inside the Gambhira at the time of Sahan Mela to exercise effective control over Pindika collections and prevent exploitation of the pilgrims either by the Sevaks or by Jatri Pandas or by Dhulia Gumastas. (Chapter XXVIII).

265. Disputes that arise between the Administration and Sevak or Sevaks or between the Sevaks inter se should be disposed of quickly by the Administration. The Managing Committee should immediately constitute an Appeal Sub-Committee and that Sub-Committee should ensure that appeals filed before the Managing Committee against the orders of the Administrator are quickly by disposed of. (Chapter XXVIII).

266. A Sevak who fails to turn up to do his duty on any particular day without sufficient reasons should be liable for removal The number of Sadhibandha Sevaks in each category should be reduced by removing those who do not actually do Seva. (Chapter XXVIII).

267. If the above recommendations are implemented, it is likely to result in the elimination of a number of recorded Sevaks in each category leaving in the field only those who actually do the Seva. Consequently the turn of worship of the remaining Sevaks would be more frequent and the remuneration that they would get per month would be more than what it is at present. If in spite of this, it I found that the Nitis are not performed punctually and regularly, the hereditary rights of the Sevaks should be abolished by Legislation and thereafter the require number of Sevaks should be appointed afresh on the basis of monthly salary (Chapter XXlX).

268. A reserve body of Sevaks should be maintained on salary basis consisting of three Srotriya brahmins well-versed in Puja Padhhati who can act both as Puja Pandas and Pasupalaks; two Supakars to 'prepare Kotha Bhog; a Pratihari or a Brahmin who can be entrusted with the security type of work; a Mekap or a Khuntia type of Sevak or in the alternative a Brahmin; a Bodo Sevak or in the alternative a Brahmin; and two non-Brahmin Sevaks. The expenditure incurred on the reserve Sevaks would not be a waste, because so long as their services are not required in times of emergency they can be utilised for other purposes as indicated in the report. (Chapter XXX).

269. There is no necessity either to curtail the Nitis or to interfere with the system of puja prevalent at present. (Chapter XXXI).

270. At present neither the Administrator or the Assistant Administrators and in fact no other official excepting a few Sevaks are entitled to go into the Roso. There appears to be no reason wby the Administrator and the Assistant Administrators, provided they are Brahmins, should not have the privilege to go into the Roso to check malpractices if any prevalent there. This should be enforced if necessary after consultation with the Sankaracharya of Gobardhan Pitha and Mukti Mandap Pandit Sabha. (Chapter XXXI).

271. Similarly there appears to be no religious prohibition against having three permanent chariots for the Ratha Jatra. There are great many advantages in having such permanent chariots. This should be done after necessary consultation with Jagatguru Sankaracharya and the members of the Mukti Mandap Pandit Sabha and after taking due note of public opinion in the matter. (Chapter XXXI).

272. The Managing Committee should consist of 10 members, namely-

1. The Raja of Puri, who should be the Chairman.
2. The Collector of Puri, who should be the Vice-Chairman.
3. Administrator.
4. Commissioner of Endowment.
5. Jagatguru Sankaracharya of Gobardhan Pitha or if he is not available any other Sanyasi of his Sampradaya.
6. Patajosi Mahapatra or in bis absence the person functioning as such.

7. Three persons of learning devoted
8. to the cult of Lord Jagannath
9. nominated by the State Government.
10. A nominee of the Advisory Body consisting of persons who donate Rs, 5 lakhs or more for the Foundation Fund of the Temple.

The tenure of appointment of non-official Members should be three years, Power should be given to the Managing Committee to co-opt for any particular meeting, any. Sevak or Sevaks whose.presence is considered necessary or desirable by the Committee, (Chapter XXXIl)..

273. The present provision regarding selection of Administrator requires no modification. What however is important is proper selection of the Officer. Not only should he be administratively strong but he should also have a religious bent of mind, and one who can involve himself completely in the administration of the Temple affairs. The minimum period of deputation of an Officer to work as Administrator should be five years. (Chapter XXXIII).

274. Similar procedure should be adopted in the appointment of· Assistant Administrators. There should be three Assistant Administrators One-to remain in charge of revenue administration, the office and establishment; the second to remain exclusively in charge of the Nitis and the third in charge of the developmental works and discipline inside the Temple. The period .of appointment of Assistant Administrators should also be five years. (Chapter XXXII)

275. As the Administrator is proposed to be drawn from the Orissa Administrative Service, Class (I) controlled by the Political & Services Department and the Assistant Administrators are proposed to be drawn from the Orissa Administrative Service controlled by the Revenue Department, a convention should grow that in matters of posting and withdrawal of these Officers, the concerned Department would do so in consultation with the Law Department, which is. in administrative .charge of the affairs of the Sree Jagannath Temple. (Chapter XXXlll).

276. Disciplinary powers vested in the Administrator under the Act are quite adequate. But in spite of there being innumerable occasions to warrant the exercise of such powers, no Administrator so far has done so because of the fear that such action may precipitate a strike in which case the public as also the Government, without trying to enter into details, would immediately hold the Administrator .responsible for precipitating such crisis. The general attitude of all Administrators is to somehow or other manage affairs peacefully during their limited tenure of office. To enable the Administrator to become effective in the Administration of the Temple affairs, he should not only be given a free hand for such management but he should also be assured by Government that so long as he acts on correct lines. his action would be supported irrespective of any unpleasant consequences, that may ensue. (Chapter XXXIV).

277. Section 21-A of the Puri Sree Jagannath Temple Act should be amended to provide for supension of a Sevak pending initiation and disposal of proceedings against him. (Chapter XXXIV).

278. Order passed by the Administrator under clauses (b) and (i) of Sub-Section 2 of Section 21 should be brought within the purview of Sub-Section 1 of Section 24. (Chapter XXXIV).

279. The queue system should be introduced to regulate the entry of pilgrims inside the Temple for Darsan of the deities. Sanan Mela which at present means the pilgrims going into the Bhittar Pokharia to have Darsan of the deities, should continue. But the time allowed for such Sanan Mela should be restricted to one hour in the morning and half an hour during night. At all other times, excluding however such occasions when entry of the pilgrims to Natyamandir (the area between Chandan argali and .Jaya Bijoya Dwar) is prohibited, pilgrims should be allowed to go in queue up to Chandan argali to have Darsan of the deities free of charge. If at times other than Sahan Mela a pilgrim wants to enter into the Bhittar Pokharia for Darsan of the deities he should avail himself of the provision for Paramanik Darsan which is at present in vogue. The existing fee for Paramanik Darsan should be slightly increased. (Chapter XXXV)

280. The practice of placing three Jharis in front of the three deities for Pindika collection should be discontinued Instead of that a strong sealed box with a slit on the top of it should be placed just below the Ratna Singhasan, at the time pilgrims are allowed into the Bhittar Pokharia either at the time of Sahan Mela or at the time of Paramanik Darsan. Such of the Jatris who are inclined to make any offerings to the deities may put their offerings in such boxes. A similar box should also be placed near the Chandan argali to enable the Jatris who have Darsan of the deities from that point to place their offerings. Excepting the Palia Pasupalaks who sit on the Ratna Singhasan at the time of Sahan Mela, there should be no other Palia Sevak on duty inside the Bhittar Pokharia at the time of Sahan Mela, It shall be the duty of the Palia Pasupalaks on duty who sit on the Ratna Singhasan to distribute Tulasi fo the pilgrims. They shall not, on pain of disciplinary action, solicit for any offering from the pilgrims. Similarly, at the time of Darsan by the pilgrims from near the Chandanargali a Sevak should be posted there only to distribute Tulasi to the pilgrims and he should be prohibited from soliciting any offerings from pilgrims. (Chapter XXXV)

281. The adoption of the queue system would not prevent the pilgrim s from gathering in the Jaganmohan and to have Darsan of the deities from that place as they are doing at present. It is not necessary to regulate them on ordinary days. But regulation even of such pilgrims would become necessary on festive occasions when there is expected to be rush of pilgrims. (Chapter XXXV).

282. The existing system of collection of Attika money by Jatri Pandas may be allowed to continue only on the specific condition that out of the Attika amount they should pay 25 % to the funds of the Temple Simultaneously Legislation should be undertaken to give power to the Temple Administration to exercise sufficient control over the Jatri business. No person shall be allowed to continue doing business of Jatri Panda without obtaining a licence from the Administrator and no such licence should be given to anyone who does not actually perform Seva in the Temple. Conditions should be embodied in the licence indicating the amount that a Jatri Panda is entitled to take from a pilgrim for services rendered, and the accounts he is to maintain, etc. No Jatri Panda can engage as his Gumasta a person who himself has not obtained a licence from the Administrator. If Jatri Pandas do not agree to contribute 25 % of the Attika money to the Temple fund, collection of Attika by Jatri Pandas should be banned by Legislation, and due publicity should be given that if the jatris wish to make any offerings to the Deities for any purpose whatsoever the offerings should be put only in the Hundis placed in the Temple and that no offerings made elsewhere will be utilised for the purposes of the Deities. (Chapter XXXV!).

283. There should be complete ban on the activities of Dhulia Gumastas, The Temple should set up an organisation of pilgrim guides and in enlisting such guides preference should be given to Dhulia Gumastas who, having regard to their character and antecedents, are found fit for the job. Preference should also be given to the Sevaks who by reason of any reforms brought about by Legislation or otherwise would be displaced from their Seva, Each pilgrim guide should obtain a licence from the Administrator. (Chapter XXXVl).·

284. Provisions contained in Clauses 18 B, 18 C, 18 D and clauses 18 F to 18 H in the Sree JagannathTemple. (Amendment) Bill, 1976 are commended for acceptance. (Chapter XXXVI).

285. Even if the present system of Attika is allowed to continue under conditions and restrictions mentioned above, still a Hundi should be placed in a prominent place in the Jagamohan inside a screened enclosure where Jatris may put their offerings. Similarly, in some of the important subsidiary shrines inside the Temple sealed boxes may be placed where pilgrims may put their offerings. (Chapter XXXVI).

286. Existing facilities for Paramanik Darsan should continue, but the fees may be raised slightly. Besides Paramanik Darsan, provision should be made for Ekanta Seva by pilgrims. (Chapter XXXV 11).
287. The Temple Administration should undertake construction of a Dharmasala of its own, if possible, at a place as near the Temple as possible. If there is any difficulty to secure such a vacant site it should put up a Dharmasala in Talabania near the Railway Station. It should initiate the 'own your cottage' scheme and put up cottages either in Talabania or in Baliapanda. Simultaneously it should enter into negotiations with the owners of Dharmasala to secure management of the Dharmasalas situated in the Town of Puri. If that is not feasible the temple Administration should at least enter into some arrangements with the owners of Dharmasala to ensure that the pilgrims conducted to the Dharmasalas in the Temple buses are accommodated there. (Chapter XXXVIII).
288. The Temple should keep some of its buses at the Railway Station and bus- stand to conduct the pilgrims from there to the Dharmasalas. (Chapter XXXVIII).
289. A Foundation Fund of an amount of Rs. 10 crores should be constituted. The Governor may be requested, if he has no objection, to issue an appeal on behalf of the people of Orissa inviting donations to the fund. The Fund should be administered by a Board of Trustees consisting of those donors who pay Rs. 5 lakhs or more to the Foundation Fund. The fund when collected should be invested in long term deposits. Only the interest accruing from such deposits should be spent for the purpose of the Temple. The Board of Trustees should meet once a year at Puri to review the financial position of the Temple and inter alia to consider proposals to augment the income thereof. The Board of Trustees should elect a person to be the Member of the Managing Committee. (Chapter XXXVIII).

290. The Temple should publish an almanac of its own. It is only this almanac which should receive the approval of the Raja of Puri and of the Mukti Mandap. Such almanac is likely to be very popular and the sale thereof may yield a sizeable profit to the Temple. (Chapter XXXVIII).

291. The Temple should obtain monopoly for the manufacture and sale of photo pictures of the Deities in several Besas. This is likely to yield a substantial recurring income to the Temple. (Chapter XXXIII).

292. The Mahalaxmi Bhandar should be run departmentally instead of being leased out as is being done at present. If worked departmentally it is likely to yield annually a net profit of Rs, 2 lakhs as against Rs, 70,000 which the Management is at present getting by leasing it out. (Chapter XXXVIII).

293. The Management should introduce a scheme whereby pilgrims may at their cost conduct some of the festivals of the deities for which expendilure is at present being incurred from the Temple Funds. Apart from satisfying the devotional urge of the pilgrims, this system is likely to yield a good deal of income to the Temple. (Chapter XXXVIII). ..

294. By means of due publicity the pilgrims may be encouraged to offer special Bhogs to the Deity. As a portion of such Bhog would be distributed amongst certain categories of Palia Sevaks, their earnings would increase thereby. Sale of the Temple's share of such Bhog would also yield an income to the Temple. (Chapter XXXVIII).

295. As the Transport Service of the Temple is yielding a net profit of about Rs, 2 lakhs per year at present, its scope should be widened as far as it is practicable. (Chapter XXXVIII).

296. A dairy farm should be started. If properly run there is every likelihood of philanthropic people donating cows to the dairy farm. (Chapter XXXVIII)

297. Niladribihar should be worked departmentally and Dolabedi Kunja should be revived. .(Chapter XXXVIII) .

298. Besides taking possession of and leasing out Chulis in the Temple Roso, the Administration should also take possession of all the Saraghars inside the Temple premises and utilise them properly. If possible some of the Sargharas situated in the Bahar Bedha can be leased out. (Chapter XXXVIII,

299. As far as it is practicable, lands of Lord Jagannath and Jagir lands held by Sevaks under Lord Jagannath should be kept out of the purview of land Legislations. This principle should also apply to all Debottar lands. If it is not possible to exempt the Estates of Lord Jagannath from the purview of the Estates Abolition Act, the annuity.that is going to be fixed, should be on as liberal a scale as possible making a further provision for periodic upward revision of the annuity amount with the rise in prices. (Chapter XXXVIII).

300. Sincere and urgent efforts should be made by the Temple Administration to obtain a full list of all properties of Lord Jagannath situated inside and outside the State. Excepting properties situated in the district of Puri, which the Temple can directly manage, efforts should be made to dispose of the properties situated outside Puri and the sale proceeds should be invested in long term deposits. The effort to obtain information regarding properties situated outside the State of Orissa should be made at the level of Government. (capter XXXVIII).

301. Transfer of Seva rights should be prohibited by Legislation. (Chapter XXXIX, 302. An institution to train Puja Pandas and such other Sevaks for whom training is necessary should be established inside the Temple. (Chapter XXXIX).

303. A concerted drive to keep the Temple premises absolutely clean should be undertaken by the Temple Administration. (Chapter XXXIX).

304. It must be ensured that food stuff sold in Ananda Bazar are kept in fly-proof receptacles. Food-stuff must be sold at places ear marked for the purpose. Ananda Bazar should be cleaned twice a day. (Chapter XXXIX).

305. Asking for alms within the Temple precincts should be strictly prohibited. (Chapter XXXIX).

306. A religious atmosphere should be created inside the Temple premises by periodically holding religious discourses and by arranging for Vedaparayana and reading of Puranas, inside the Temple precincts. (Chapter XXXIX).

307. Practically no publicity arrangements exist in the Temple at present. The Publicity arrangements should be considerably improved for the convenience of the pilgrims. (Chapter XXXIX).

308. Soliciting Dakhina in any form by any person, be he a Sevak or otherwise, inside the Temple premises should be prohibited. (Chapter XXXIX).

309. Mahaprasad Seva Sadan which had been started some time back and which has fallen into disuse now should be revived. (Chapter XXXIX).

310. A Code of Conduct for observance by all Sevaks inside the Temple should be framed and their observance should be strictly enforced. (Chapter XXXIX).

CHAPTER XLI

CONCLUSION

311. The Nitis of Sree Jagannath Temple are so complex and elaborate that one would necessarily take a long time to acquire a mere working knowledge of the same. To be able to pin-point the deficiencies wherever they exist and to suggest solutions requires still deeper study of the system, I have received considerable assistance in this regard from the Record of Rights, preparation of which must have involved considerable labour and patience.

312. There was a necessary interval between my assumption of the Office as Commission and the actual commencement of the inquiry by reason of the fact that my office had to be set up and affidavits and. views on the several aspects covered by the terms of reference had to be received from the public. That interval was utilised by me for observing the various Nitis of the Temple, and for acquainting myself with the complex system prevalent for performing the several Nitis. In that endeavour I received valuable assistance from the Sebaks and the Temple Officials and especially from Sbri Guruprasad Mahanty, the Assistant Administrator of the Temple.

313. 1 am thankful to the several gentlemen who, in response to the request made by the Commission, took the trouble to appear before it at the inquiry, either to depose about the facts within their knowledge and/or to offer their views on matters touching the administration of the Temple. I am particularly thankful to the Advocates Sarvashri Dwarikanath Das, B. K. Bose, N. K. Mohanty. Bamadev Mishra, R. M. Pratihari, Gauranga Charan Swain Mobapatra who appeared at the inquiry and rendered considerable assistance to me.

314, My thanks are also due to Sri M.I.M. Pattnaik, Executive Engineer, Puri and his S.D.O., Shri S. C. Mahapatra, for preparing and making available to the Commission certain sketches which are appended as enclosures to Part I of this report.

315. To acknowledge with pleasure the cooperation I have received from Sri S. K. Mahapatra, Secretary. Home Department, and Dr. S. N. Mishra, Secretary, Law Department and their Officers and staff who spared no pains to render such assistance as the Commission had sought from them from time to time.

316. I record my appreciation of the work done by my Secretary and other members of the Office of the Commission for their loyalty and devotion and the hard work everyone of them has done.

317. Lastly I am grateful to Government for affording to me an opportunity to do this important piece of work connected with Sree Jagannath Temple. What I have found in the Temple is that in every sphere the interest of the Deity is subordinated to the interests of the Sebaks. Many of the Sebaks appear to be the least concerned with the regular performance of the Nitis , Remembering full well that hoary traditions govern the performance of many of the Nitis, I have offered certain suggestions which, if implemented, would cure many of the defects without at the same time bringing out any radical departure in essential matters or touching any religious rites. All that is necessary is the determination to implement them. Implementation of some of the suggested reforms may be met with resistance from those whose interests are likely to be adversely affected. But I hope and trust that in the interest of the fair name of this famous institution and in the interest of the thousands of pilgrims who visit the shrine every day, Government would not hesitate to bring about certain necessary changes in the system of administration to ensure that Nitis are performed regularly, that the finances of the Temple are placed on a sound footing and that the economic condition of the Sebaks actually doing the Seba of the Deities is improved.

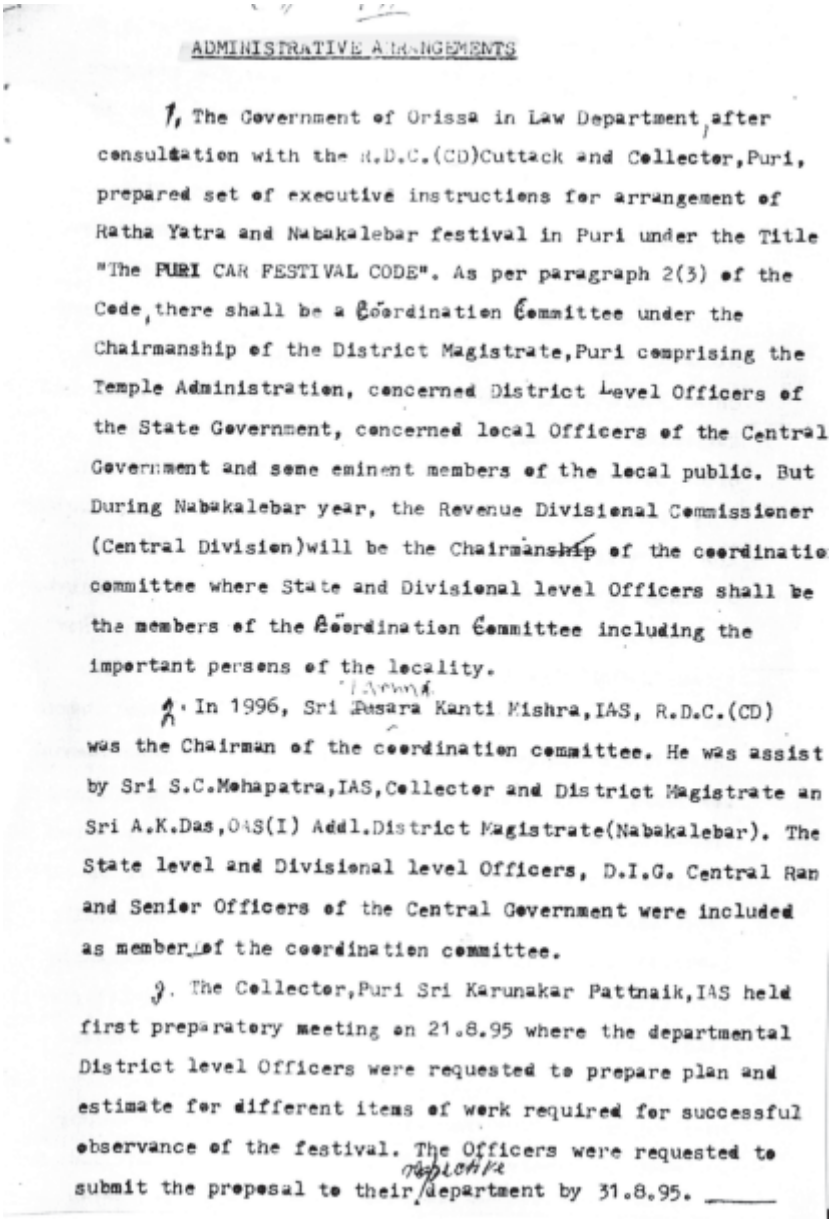
APPENDIX-V

Nabakalebara-1996 (S.C.Mohapatra, Collector, Puri, 1996)



ADMINISTRATIVE ARRANGEMENTS

1. The Government of Orissa in Law Department after consultation with the R.D.C.(CD)Cuttack and Collector,Puri, prepared set of executive instructions for arrangement of Ratha Yatra and Nabakalebar festival in Puri under the Title "The PURI CAR FESTIVAL CODE". But an officer of the Asst.Administr rank was always available in temple Garada Office. It was further pointed-out by the S.P. that during dragging of Rathas the Temple Administration was to arrange wooden trolly with wheels for for carrying mike sets. The old trolly which was supplied during the festival did not operate properly for which it is suggested that the Temple Administration should supply wood trolly for mike set.

It is, therefore, suggested that for timely performance of Nitis and all-round development of the Temple Administration the recommendations of Hon'ble Justice ~~Shri~~ B.K.Patra should be implemented.

2. Day by day the scarcity of timbers for construction of chariot has became a cronic problem for the Government as well as District and Temple Administration. It was invariably suggested in every year Coordination meeting that an area should be identified in the reserve forest for plantation of the Fasi, Asana, Dhaura and other plants, ~~which are~~ required for the yearly construction of Ratha. A separate division for plantation and maintenance ~~of the above spaces~~ as required to created and the required area should be demarkated so that in future the problem will not be faced. During this year, it was experienced that the D.F.Os could not supply Neem Timbers for construction of Sarathi, Horses and side deities for which the District Administration and the Temple Administration had to ~~purchase the~~ different generous public for donation of the timber for ~~the~~ such construction. Thus there is also necessity of planting Neem plants in the earmarked are necessary in each Nabakalebar year for construction of "CHARAMALA". Gradually the number of Palm Trees are reducing from the road side and other places. It is, therefo necessity to plant Palm Trees in the road side as well as Talabania area.

3. The success of Nabakalebar festival,1996 depended on the proper utilisation of vacant place in Talabania area. 58 temporary sheds with covering an area of ~~four~~ 4.00 lakhs sq.ft. were constructed where lakhs of pilgri got sheltered. Besides, temporary Bus-stand, parking place of about 5000 heavy buses was also constructed for parking of the inter-state and inter-district tourist buses came with pilgrims. Most of the areas were covered by different stalls, sheds and other structures. Thus the vacant place in Talabania area was a most important place for the administration to manage the festival.

It ~~is some time~~ proposed that some areas are tobe alienated to Housing Board and other organisation for allotment to the different individuals. Since Puri is a developing city where large number of tourist institutions are coming up and the average floating population is about 25,000 in normal days, the only opening space in the Easter side of the town should be kept free for all time to come for proper utilisation in the festive days and other important function of the State and National level. In the past, the National level function are also observed in Puri One of the most important institution, not only in the State of Orissa but in the country, Sri Jagannath Sanskrit such vacant and suitable place at Puri and surrounding area no attempts at any level should be made to alienate this ar for utilisation by any of the departments of Central Govt., State Government, Corporation, Companies or private institu

There is also another vacant place in Baliapanda area which comes the second place and is also suitable for accommo dating the floating pilgrims. This area should also be kept vacant.

4. The South Eastern Railway has measurably neglected their services at the time of last Nabakalebar festival. On the plea that since it is a single line from Khurda to Puri, they are unable to provide more trains. It is also experienced that from Khurda Road to Puri, there is un-usual delay on movement of trains even the ~~Superfast~~ Superfast Express. Since the pilgrims are ~~flooring~~ pouring day by day, the pressure on Railway is also increasing. It is therefore suggested that the railway line from Khurda to Puri should be doubled soon so that the sufferings of the pilgrims can be avoided.

5. The Nabakalebar year is known much earlier. The Government and other departmental authorities should prepare plan and estimate and required scheme prior to five years of the scheduled date so that the improvements, developments, modifications and alternation required tobe done can be done properly and within time to time. This year the allotment/ authorisation of Government were received in the late hours for which the implementing agencies faced difficulties in timely completion of the work. Since time was very short, th quality of work could not be watched. It is therefore suggested that since Nabakalebar day is pre-determined, Gov prior to five years so that there would not any hurry at the nick of the moment.

6. Since all the festival of Lord Jagannath is getting National importance as the devotees not only from this country but also from abroad are coming in large number to Puri, the encroachments in Badadanda(Grand Road) should not be allowed. If there is any encroachment, this should be demolished and the law envisaged in Municipal Act should be properly enforced.

7. The encroachment in other roads should also be demolished to avoid conjection of road. It is very often seen that small temple and extension of temple are being done on the roads which are obstacle the very movement of the vehicles and people. All these structures, even small temple should be demolished and no such construction should be allowed in future.

8. The water of the sacred tanks are being polluted due to stagnation of water as the channels for discharge and inflow of the water are not working properly. The water of the sacred tank particularly Swataganga should be properly maintained and no-body should be allowed to make the water pollute by throwing different wasteful articles.

9. The illegal construction in the Sea-beach area should be demolished and at no point of time, such construction should be allowed. If any illegal construction comes up at a particular time, the concerned Executive Officer and the local Tahasildar, if not reported, should be held responsible and action taken against them.

10. It is very often seen that in a heavy rain the Medical square became and it is difficult for movement of the pilgrims as well as vehicles. During this Nabakalebar year, to face this problem, the pump sets were kept ready for discharge of the water. It is, therefore, suggested that the P.W.D. and P.H.D. should jointly prepared a plan for proper discharge of the water from Medical square. It is also seen that both sewerage and drainage system in Puri town is in very bad condition. Since the foreigner-tourists are coming in large number, ~~for the prestige of the city as well as State~~ the sewerage and drainage system should be developed.

11. The local inhabitants in some of the Sahis make the road ~~as well as road dirty~~ and ~~store~~ the wasteful articles, garbages on the road. The Municipality also did not take it up very promptly. The health unit of the Municipality should be very much vigilant on this issue.

12. ~~In normal Ratha Yatra festival and other festival where Government want to invest funds, the permanent assets should be created so that the pilgrims will have benefit out of it.~~ It is very often seen that the general pilgrims coming from different parts of the country are facing difficulties for their shelter and some time they are being exploited. There are many vacant space of Mathas, Temple and Govt. land. It is, therefore, suggested that sheds with minimum facilities be construc for allotment to the pilgrims on nominal charge.

13. The four sides of [illegible] should be kept clean by demolishing/evicting structure/encroachment, ~~if any~~. The Government structure should also be demolished so that the pilgrims will have a clear vision of the Temple as well as there would not be any conjection on the festive days. The surplus land around the Temple after leaving the specified place for the road should be covered by different ~~xxxxxxxxxxxxx~~ flowar plants to beautify the temple.

14. The putting of cabins in Grand Road especially from Lion's Gate to Marchikot Chhak should be prohibited. No cabin, structure, temporary shed should be allowed from Marchikot to Lion's Gate so that the pilgrims will not face any difficulties to enter into the temple.

15. In Puri Town, though ~~there are~~ town bus, Auto Rickshaw and Cycle Rickshaw service are available, there is no regulotary body to check the exploitation of the pilgrims coming from different parts of the country. Rat chart at Bus-stand, Railway Station are not exhibited and enforced. It is, therefore, suggested that the Municipality should have regulatory system for realisation of required fare from the pilgrims. The Police also should have a vig eye on checking the exerbitant fare from the innocent pilgrims coming from different parts of the country.

16. The road from Bata Mangala to Atharanala is, in some of the places, is conjested. The encroachment, if any should be removed ~~if not, land should be acquired to widen the road.~~

At Atharanala the bed of Musa Nai should be mad clean and all the [illegible] should be cleaned so that the entry
